Vote Communist? Why? We Suggest Two Movies. Wealth via the Shot Gun. Up Go the Stocks.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

ON a building in Union Square, New York, a gigantic sign reads: "VOTE COMMUNIST."

"For the Party of Class Struggle."

"For the Workers Against the Bosses."

That does not attract, as it would have done, when New York's garment workers were almost starving in sweat shops; when street car drivers made $41 a month; when bread lines were long at 2 o'clock every morning, waiting hours in bitter cold for a piece of dry bread and a cup of coffee.

TIMES have changed. The struggle today is not of workers against bosses, but a struggle of the workers to become a boss.

As for the word "Communist," ask the gentleman that owns one to give you a half interest in his automobile, in his house and lot, his savings account.

Those are things that millions of workers own today, and few or none owned 40 years ago.

To make your appeal succeed, make it sound REASONABLE. That applies even to Communists, usually sincere.

ROSAMOND PINCHOT, daughter of the able radical, Amos Pinchot, is out for Gov. Smith.

Helen Wills, California wonder and world champion, is for Hoover.

William Fox, owner of "movietone," the talking motion picture, should invite each of these young ladies to talk five minutes for her candidate on the screen in every theater in the United States.

Miss Pinchot might appear in her costume as the nun in "The Miracle"; Helen Wills in tennis costume.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY MONAGHAN, of Philadelphia, says that leaders of Philadelphia's bootleg ring, using fictitious names, have deposited $10,000,000 in banks and trust companies in 12 months.

Fortunes can be made in many directions in this country. The sawed-off shotgun, automatic and portable machine gun of the rum runner can be as profitable as the stock ticker.

SIXTY different stocks went to new high prices yesterday. Somebody bought nearly 4,000,000 shares in five hours.

Even usurious interest rates, encouraged by the Federal Reserve, seem unable to check the conviction that this country has securities worth owning.

By the way, you haven't seen the beginning of high prices yet. But don't gamble.

W. J. BRYAN would rub his eyes, giving a good imitation of Rip Van Winkle, after the long sleep, if he could see our rich men rushing to the Democratic party.

The latest is Uzal H. McCarter, president of the Fidelity Union Trust Company of Newark.

Mr. McCarter, brother of Thomas McCarter, head of New Jersey's Public Service Corporation, has millions of his own and manages tens of millions for others. He is not only "not afraid of the Democratic candidate," he is for him. He was a Republican in other campaigns.

MANY friends will hear with regret of Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson's illness.

Friends and disciples have declared that Mrs. Stetson would NEVER die.

May she outlive them all, living far beyond the years of her teacher, Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, who reached almost 90.

Nevertheless, the law is that we all must go. Eternal life is not for this earth, not even for the earth itself.

MRS. EVA BROWN, earnest worker for woman suffrage, died yesterday.

Her father was Robert Ingersoll. Many believe that she will not meet him in Heaven. Others that she will. Still others, including Henry Ford, believe that Robert Ingersoll is back here working, and that his daughter also will come back, that we all do—you take your choice.

Everybody has a right to believe what he likes, so long as he does not interfere with the belief of others.

WHEN the League of Nations assembles next month, Germany will demand evacuation of the Rhineland.

That seems reasonable. The French have kept troops there lest Germany should attack France. But with the noble peace pact, "attacking" should be a thing of the past.

Why continue invasion of German territory if the nations believe in the pact?

SECRETARY KELLOGG travels from France to Ireland on a war vessel. That suggests the dove returning to the ark with a dynamite bomb in his hand.

The Secretary is wise. Those little boats that take you across the Channel and then cross the rough sea from England to Ireland are not too comfortable.

SECRETARY KELLOGG, by the way, amazed the world and broke all records by attending a gathering of the great men of Europe, presenting a peace treaty, attending banquets and never making one speech.

Mr. Kellogg is a brilliant lawyer and a brilliant talker, and could make as good a speech as anybody.

But his sensible idea is: "No speech needed, no speech made."

GOV. SMITH said in his speech of acceptance that Coolidge economy is a myth.

The President is going to prove that it isn't by cutting about $90,000,000 out of the $94,000,000 deficit that threatens the treasury. The way to convince is to act.

CALL JURY TO HEAR FORNEY

The Federal grand jury which indicted 167 politicians, police officials, and racketeers last May was recalled in an order handed down today by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, September 10 was the date set for the jurors to reconvene.

With Judge Schoonmaker's order, United States Marshal James C. McGregor was instructed to summon all those who considered the voluminous testimony presented last May, the bulk of which is said to have revealed unprecedented vice in the Pittsburgh district.

Alfred W. Forney, one of those indicted last May, recently entered a plea of no defense to the charge of conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition law. At the time it was said he was "willing to talk" and it is thought likely that some of his disclosures will be laid before the grand jurors.

Forney was an alleged wealthy slot machine "racketeer". It is believed he knows the "inside" of the bootlegging business and it is thought that if he cares he can supply the grand jurors with valuable information.

Forney was sentenced to serve six months in jail and fined $3,000—$1,000 on each of three indictments, on August 21.

Rumor has it that Forney already has talked, with the result that many more racketeers and their political allies and official henchmen are fearful of developments.

The 167 already indicted is a mere "drop in the bucket" so far as the bootlegging business in Pittsburgh is concerned, it is said, and much is expected from next month's session.

In addition, the grand jury also has a number of other bootlegging cases and some unfinished business to clean up, it is said.

Find Fliers' Bodies

POND EDDY, Pa., Aug. 30.—(AP.)—The bodies of the two aviators, Mazel M. Merrill and Edwin Ronne, lost on a flight from Buffalo to New York, were found at dawn today in the wilderness near this little town by five residents of Milford.

The body of one of the men was in the wreckage. The other body was found in the brush 15 feet ahead, where it had been hurled when the Curtiss Falcon plane crashed.

There was no fire, the rescuers said, the plane was smashed to pieces.

TEARS TOP OFF TREE

Before crashing the plane, owned by Col. Charles Lindbergh, tore the top from a tall pine tree, 400 yards from where it plunged nose down into the ground.

The motor and fuselage of the plane were buried in a hole 5 feet deep and 20 feet wide. When it hit, the plane broke in half. The wreckage of the rear half was found 100 yards ahead of the motor. In this was one of the bodies.

The wreck was found a half mile off the abandoned Pond Eddy road. The bodies will be packed out to the road by the rescuers and taken in a wagon to Milford where an inquest will be held.

BODIES NOT MANGLED

The bodies were not badly mangled, rescuers said, although the clothes had been torn off the body thrown clear of the wreckage. Even the shoes were gone.

The wreckage was strewn over a distance of 300 yards.

The scene is located in the heart of a wilderness of scrub oak and pine trees, rarely visited even by hunters.

"Casey" Jones, chief Curtiss flying service pilot, with another party recruited from the surrounding country, arrived on the scene a few minutes after the bodies had been found.

A fresh breeze from the south today brought little comfort in the prolonged heat wave from which Western Pennsylvania is suffering, and several prostrations were reported.

The breeze came in hot gusts as it swept through the streets and persons who had sought shelter from the sun on the shaded sidewalks found little relief. Showers are predicted for later today, with fair and cooler weather tomorrow.

The mercury will drop to the fifties by Friday night or Saturday morning, the weather bureau predicted.

In McKeesport three victims were taken to the McKeesport Hospital, and all are said to be in a critical condition. They are:

BUCKNER, HUNTER, 46, 1116 Market street, McKeesport.

HEATH, GLENN, 30, 808½ Fifth avenue, McKeesport.

KUSTIA, ANDREW, 45, 2525 Palmgreen avenue, McKeesport.

The temperature in McKeesport is said to be the hottest of the summer and physicians reported that they had numerous calls from persons who had been overcome.

AMUNDSEN'S WRECKED PLANE REPORTED FOUND

LONDON, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen says that the Oslo Aftenposten has received a message from Harstad reporting a rumor of the finding of wreckage in North Norway believed to have come from the Latham plane in which Roald Amundsen disappeared last June.

The advices said that there was a disposition to receive the report with caution until further investigation could be made.

BELIEVED AMUNDSEN'S

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—The finding of a wrecked Latham airplane in the sea near Vesteraalen, North Norway, was reported today in a cablegram from Oslo to Bernon S. Prentice.

Prentice, American captain of two of Raold Amundsen's expeditions, said he believed the plane was the French craft in which Amundsen and six others were lost in the search for Italia disaster survivors.

The cablegram was sent by Froeis Froeisland, head of the Oslo newspaper relief expedition for Amundsen. He said the report came from Harstad and that he was investigating.

"The message indicates that the plane fell in the open sea," said Prentice.

NAT BROWN 'CRASHES' VARE QUIZ

Ralph H. Frank, attorney for C. C. McGovern when the latter was County Controller, joined the counsel for William B. Wilson today in an effort to bring the "Nat Brown" episode before the Senate subcommittee investigating the Vare-Wilson election contest.

"Nat Brown" was the mysterious and apparently non-existent employe of the County Treasurer's office who bore the burden of all of the irregularities brought out during the audit of the county's fiscal affairs conducted by McGovern.

The effort to introduce testimony taken at the audit concerning "Nat Brown" was made today by Frank in an effort to discredit statements of former County Treasurer Samuel D. Foster and Col. James L. Costella to the effect that no blank tax receipts disappeared from the office in 1926, although some were stolen in 1925 and later seized in Homestead during the Cavanaugh-Conroy battle for burgess of that borough. "Nat Brown," according to evidence presented at the McGovern audit, was hired to guard against other employes taking out blank tax receipts.

SUBPENA ASSESSOR

The mystery of "Nat Brown," judging from testimony before the Senate committee today, is no greater than that surrounding the identity of a man named "Killkarey" or "Kilgeary" who is said to have delivered 58 tax receipts without proper orders to the Athalia Daly Home for Girls, Gross street, in 1927. After Miss Jane M. McKibben, in charge of the home, said the receipts had been taken there by a man named "Killgeary" who was employed as an assessor in the Eighth Ward, a subpena was issued for Joseph F. Kilgeary, 267 Dinwiddie street.

He appeared today and testified that he is an assessor in the Third Ward, that he did not even know where the Athalia Daly Home is and that he knew nothing about the tax receipts.

"You have a brother John?" asked counsel for Wilson.

"I have a cousin John," said the witness, stating that he did not know where the cousin lived or worked. James E. Routley then testified that no other Kilgeary has been on the payroll of the assessors' office since 1923.

ADMIT IRRELEVANCY

Senator C. K. Waterman, chairman, asked counsel for both sides to assist in getting the mysterious "Killkarey" or "Kilgeary" subpenaed.

"I cannot see that these 58 tax receipts issued in 1927 have anything to do with the question of the election contest we are considering now," he said. "I can't conceive why it has been presented here at all. However, as the situation stands now, the case of Bill McKechnie's league-leading Cardinals are in town in the interest of the 1928 flag, which they feel they will win. The Redbirds are here for three games with the Pirates, the first to be staged this afternoon.

Grover Alexander was scheduled to pitch for the Cardinals, opposed by Kremer for the Pirates.

The Freebooters slipped on a banana peel yesterday as they tasted defeat in a seven-inning clash with the Quakers. 'Twas a queer proceeding at best, with Donie Bush and his players unaware of a bobtailed racket until the umpires informed them at game-time.

The Pirates are six and one half games behind the Cardinals before the opening battle gets under way. By losing yesterday the Pirates passed up a chance to vault into second place.

The Cardinals were rained out in Chicago, but they won the only two games played in the series and as a result they were feeling right smart as they docked at Pittsburgh this morning. The Giants tasted defeat again, much to the jubilation of the Redbirds.

The three games with the Cardinals will be followed by Pirate-Cub battles in Pittsburgh and Chicago. The Buccos will play in Chicago Sunday. On Monday the Cubs and Pirates will stage morning and afternoon scraps in the Oakland Orchard. A single game will be played on Tuesday and then the Pirates will invade St. Louis for four battles.

3 Sink With Towboat

Three persons, one a girl, were drowned, and a score were rescued or swam ashore last night when the Aliquippa, towboat of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, capsized in the Ohio River at Aliquippa, as it was preparing to start for Memphis with 6,000 tons of steel.

THE DEAD

DENLOCK, CHRISTINA, 19, chambermaid, of West Brownsville.

ABKINS, WILLIAM, 38, watchman, of Point Pleasant, W. Va.

GORDON, JAMES F., 39, deckhand, of Denbo, Pa.

The body of the Denlock girl was recovered this morning, and those of Abkins and Gordon this afternoon. All were taken from the cabin, where they evidently were trapped by the waters as they slept.

Government steamboat inspectors visited the scene, but stated they were unable to determine the cause or attempt to fix blame for the accident. Harry Layfield, supervising inspector for the Pittsburgh district, and Capt. F. L. Shaw, local inspector of hulls, conducted the investigation.

"We are unable to do anything until the Aliquippa is raised," Mr. Layfield said, "and this is not expected for the next day or two."

The Aliquippa was the pride of the Vesta Coal Company's fleet. She held the speed record for towboats between here and Memphis.

The crew consisted of 23 persons, officials of the company said. Most of them were in their cabins, many asleep, when the boat listed. The sea valve, a 10-inch pipe amidship on the knuckle of the hull, is believed to have broken, flooding the boat in two minutes, according to witnesses.

The suddenness of the mishap

SMITH LEADS HOOVER 197 IN CLOSE RACE IN STATE

Herbert Hoover and Gov. Alfred E. Smith were neck-and-neck in the day's returns from Pennsylvania in the straw vote poll throughout the state conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. As a result, the Democratic candidate retained a slender lead, virtually without change.

The balloting to date indicates the closeness of the race between the candidates in the state poll. With the total of ballots returned approaching 7,000, Smith has a lead of 197 in the state.

In the latest returns, both candidates maintain their apparent strength in different areas.

Smith continued as the favorite in the ballots from Philadelphia, but with a reduced ratio compared to the returns from that city for the first two days.

The substantial majorities received by Hoover in the rural counties in various parts of the state neutralized the urban strength of the New York Governor.

The returns for the day showed a decreased number of ballots from women in both rural and city districts.

The latest totals in the state canvass, which is part of the nation-wide poll by the Hearst papers to obtain an index of sentiment in this important presidential race, are as follows: Smith 3,492, including 2,085 men and 1,407 women; Hoover 3,295, including 1,923 men and 1,372 women.

In 1924, there were 4,437 of these voters for Coolidge, comprising 2,504 men and 1,933 women, and 464 voted for Davis, comprising 309 men and 155 women. LaFollette received support from 897 of these voters, 557 men and 340 women.

Pittsburgh Opinions :-: The Briand-Kellogg Pact :-: Will It Really End War?

KELLOGG PLAN

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph asked six prominent persons their opinion of the Briand-Kellogg peace pact, which proposes to outlaw war and which a dozen or more nations, including France and this country, have already accepted. The treaty [illegible] the idea of Secretary of State Kellogg.

FEARS ENTANGLEMENTS

I should hail the Kellogg-Briand treaty as one of the most important dates in our history if I were sure it would not lead America into dangerous entanglements. We are told there is no fear of this but I am not convinced of such far-sightedness of the diplomats who are handling the treaty —Mrs. Robert F. Metcalfe, president, Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

JUSTICE WITH PEACE

Injustice, usually economic, has caused most of the past wars. Without justice in the relations among the nations of the world, peace is impossible. The Kellogg-Briand treaty will do much to promote justice and in that way materially aid in the prevention of war. There can be no peace without justice. — Congressman Stephen G. Porter, chairman Foreign Affairs Committee.

A PEACE DAY

It's wonderful, a real step in our progress, a movement forward in the name of Christianity and civilization. I hope the newspapers give this peace treaty more prominence and make the anniversary of its signing a new holiday—Peace Day.—Mrs. Harry C. Miller, president, Mothers of Democracy, mother of three war veterans and a fourth son now at West Point.

A FORWARD STEP

The Kellogg-Briand peace pact is a move in the right direction and has great possibilities for the accomplishment of splendid results in securing permanent peace among the nations of the world.—Cyrus E. Woods, of Greensburg, former United States Ambassador to Japan.

THINK PEACE

I am heartily in favor of anything that will bring peace into the atmosphere of thinking. The Kellogg-Briand treaty is valuable if it does nothing else but make the people of the world stop and consider peace—instead of war.—Cora Helen Coolidge, president, Pennsylvania College for Women.

A PRACTICAL INSTRUMENT

The signing of the treaty is a remarkable event and is a forecast of a better future and closer relationship among the nations of the world. It means a positive step towards the creation of a real brotherhood. It is a practical instrument condemning war.—Dr. Andry Avinoff, director, Carnegie Museum.

CURTIS, IN PA., WARNS GRANGE

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—(AP.)—The Democratic tariff policy, particularly as related to agriculture, was attacked by Senator Curtis, Republican vice presidential nominee, in a speech here today before members of the National Grange.

He declared that if the Democrats are returned to power nothing could be expected from them "but an immediate low revision of the tariff" and said that many Democratic leaders already had committed themselves to such a policy.

CANADA SENDS WHEAT

"In the eleven months ending August, 1921, when wheat was on the free list," the Senator said, "Canada sold $99,472,000 worth of wheat to the United tSates. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, Canada sold us wheat to the amount of $19,801,447, about $80,000,000 less of foreign wheat to compete with farmers of the United States. For the 11 months ending with August, 1921, when flour was on the free list, Canada sold to the United States wheat flour valued at more than 12 million dollars, while in the last year the wheat flour imported was about one-half million dollars.

"The figures show that wheat imported from Canada for the week ending April 6, 1923, the week before the order was issued increasing the duty on wheat from 30 to 42 cents per bushel, was 2,260,000 bushels, while only 37,000 were imported during the week after the order became effective. But why go on—you of Pennsylvania are well informed on the imports from our neighbors across the border.

LOW TARIFF, IDLENESS

"In his address of acceptance last week, the Democratic candidate for President indicated that he regarded the Underwood-Simmons act of 1913 as the model he will follow if he is elected. Let us study, for a moment, the effect of that tariff, which the Democratic party promised would in no way injure legitimate business.

"A few months after the law was enacted the tariff began to spell disaster. Tens of thousands of wage earners were thrown out of employment as factories closed down in Pennsylvania and other great industrial states of the country. An official canvass in Philadelphia showed 200,000 unemployed. New York city labor organizations estimated 472,000 men and women either out of work or working part time there. In Chicago 190,000 were thrown out of work. Appropriations had to be made in Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Boston, Providence and other cities to care for the unemployed."

RUSSIAN SAYS HE IS FATHER OF "EUGENIC BABY"

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Grace Mailhouse Burnham's "eugenics" baby today is one of the main topics of interest in this metropolis following the announcement of Capt. Marc Michailovitch Medvedeff, former officer in the Russian navy, that he is the father of the baby, and Mrs. Burnham's assertion that she had never heard of the man.

When Mrs. Brunham, a widow of means, announced the arrival of her child, she would not give the name of the other parent. He was carefully chosen, it was said, because Mrs. Burnham wanted the finest child possible to lavish her love on.

Mrs. Burnham, when told of the captain's assertion, declared it preposterous. She said she never had heard of the man. Others in her household said it must be a "publicity stunt." But the denials didn't dim the discussion any today. Pictures of the self-styled father, in physical culturistic poses, appeared in newspapers this morning and served to sharpen the tongues.

PLANS EXPOSE

Capt. Medvedeff burst into the limelight yesterday when he said his connection with the Burnham baby would come out in court during the progress of his divorce suit. He said:

"Believe in eugenic babies? I should say not. I don't think it's any way to propagate the race. There ought to be love between the parents.

"I did not love Mrs. Burnham. She did not love me. I saw her only twice and she paid me $150. But it was not the money that interested me. I was just sort of passing by. I did not realize that Mrs. Burnham was the woman I knew until I saw her pictures in the papers; but I recognized her from them. I certainly did not become the father of her baby by intent.

"I'm willing to swear, however, that the Burnham child is mine. I will submit to blood tests to prove my paternity, and I am sure the little girl will never be ashamed of her father. I come from a good Russian family."

'I'm Alive' Ends Drag For Body

While his fellow policemen dragged the Ohio River for his body, Patrolman Martin Morgan notified the police operator by telephone today from Carnegie that he was "alive and well."

Search for Morgan's body was begun after a hat and civilian clothing identified as Morgan's were found on the Manchester Bridge. In the clothing were gas and electric receipts issued to Martin Morgan, 4116 Foster street, the veteran patrolman's address.

HE'S IN CARNEGIE

"I am out here in Carnegie," a voice that the police operator recognized as Morgan's, came over the wire shortly before noon. "I just read in the paper that they were dragging the river for my body."

Morgan gave no explanation as to the hat and coat.

"A put-up job," declared Mrs. Morgan, when informed that her husband's clothing had been found on the bridge. "He's not the kind to jump into the river."

WIFE CALLS POLICE

Mrs. Morgan said he had been away from home for weeks and had been in the vicinity of the Foster street house last night. Fearing he might carry off their daughter Elva, 4, she said she called police from the Forty-third Street Station for protection.

Morgan, 49, has been on the force more than 20 years. At present he is assigned to the Mt. Washington station.

3 SINK WITH TOWBOAT

threw all but one member of the crew into the water. A few were able to swim ashore, but most of the struggling victims remained in the river until picked up by rescuers.

RUSH TO RESCUE

Charles Webber, ferryman, plying between Ambridge and Aliquippa, witnessed the boat's plight and immediately steered to the overturned craft. He succeeded in picking up a number of survivors. Mill workers at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation plant, nearby, also assisted in the rescue work, and Capt. Hubert Hodson, with the crew of the Sailor, another Vesta boat, rushed to the scene and gave aid.

The Aliquippa was making ready for a tow to Memphis with 11 barges. It was tied up to an empty barge about 200 feet from shore in 20 to 30 feet of water. Wheel planks were being laid from the barge to the boat when the craft lurched suddenly and lay over on its side.

Capt. N. C. (Bucky) Jones, in command, was in the pilot house. At the first lurch, he scrambled to the lower deck and raised the alarm, but the boat was over before most of the crew could get out of their cabins.

ONE MAID SAVED

Bertha Herron, of California, Pa., another maid on the boat, was rescued. She and Miss Denlock were the only women on board. The officers, all of whom were saved, included, besides the captain, D. A. McDonald, of Ben Avon, pilot; Richard F. Simms, of Lincoln place, chief engineer; Michael Palmer, of Paducah, Ky., assistant chief engineer; Paul Leezer, of Lock No. 4, mate, and John Greenlee, of Point Pleasant, steward.

Palmer was the only member of the crew not thrown into the river. He ran out of his cabin on the boiler deck just as the Aliquippa started listing and as the boat turned over, he climbed around, finally resting safely on the side of the boat above water.

CAUSE MYSTERY

The Aliquippa's hull was inspected regularly by the watch every hour for signs of leaks or other damage from river flotsam, according to officials of the Vesta company. Chief Engineer Simms had made his rounds about 10 minutes before the boat sank, it was said, and at that time he noticed nothing wrong with the sea valve. What caused the valve to let go will not be determined until the Aliquippa is raised. This work already has begun.

Capt. T. C. Elsey, of 4051 Brownsville road, master of transportation of the Vesta Coal Company, a subsidiary of the Jones and Laughlin interests, was called shortly after the tragedy. He went to Aliquippa immediately, taking charge of rescue work and salvaging.

though no important clues have been discovered in them.

Henry Dapper, father of the victim, yesterday informed investigators that his son might have been shadowed during the 10 days previous to the murder. Two men were seen in the yard of Henry Dapper, near the garage where the son kept his machine. The machine had only been purchased 10 days prior to the crime and the men were seen the second night the car was left in the garage. The men were seen two nights later loitering near the home of the physician.

Acting Chief of County Detectives Harry Cochran and Roy Barclay, ap rivate detective, are both of the opinion that the murderer was a birde killer. They are now centering their efforts on selecting persons who might have wished to bring about the physician's death. A search of records is being made in hope of uncovering names of persons who had died while being attended by the physician.

A squad of police were rushed to the home of Henry Dapper, the father early yesterday when a man was seen loitering in the rear of the reidence. The loiterer had fled when police arrived and in hope that he may return, police have doubled the guard at the residence.

these tax receipts is a blotch and I don't want to leave it on the records without giving the county officials, who are placed in a bad ligh by it, an opportunity to answer it."

Testimony presented yesterday by Miss McKibben, Miss Ada Goss, secretary of the home, and Mrs. Kathleen Purcell, secretary to Mrs. John O. Miller, of the League of Women Voters, was that the unidentified man had delivered the tax receipts to the home in an envelope on which was the name of Roy D. Schooley.

It developed today that one of the witnesses called, J. L. Lowry, a painter, is the wrong man, the Wilson attorneys wanting J. L. Lowrie, former deputy controller. Lowry was excused with apologies when the facts were called to Waterman's attention by Charles L. Prichard, Vare counsel, who said the man had been losing $12 a day pay while waiting to take the stand. He, like the other witnesses, will get $3 a day.

"Is this an official hearing or a hearing for some one to find out something for his own use?" observed Senator C. K. Waterman, chairman of the sub-committee, when Frank brought up the "Nat Brown" episode.

Other witnesses this morning were Gilbert C. Cloonan, county statistician, who explained the method of enrolling voters in the boroughs and townships, and Samuel Eades, chief assessor. Eades testified that 717,238 voters were assesed in 1926 in this county.

Looking down an elevator shaft in a new building in Twelfth street yesterday to see if the cage was on its way up, Harvey C. Downs, 55, construction foreman, of 1520 Steuben street, Crafton Heights, was struck on the head by the elevator on its way down.

He died this morning in St. John's Hospital.

SOCIETY BURGLAR PLEADS

Modishly dressed victims of a gentleman burglar caused the Criminal Court room today to resemble a fashion solon while women from East Liberty and the Squirrel Hill district sought to identify diamonds, platinum wrist watches, gold vanity cases and other articles stolen from their boudoirs.

The women were called as witnesses in the case of Lewis Iovino, 18, of 7332 Denniston avenue, Swissvale, a dapper looking youth who pleaded guilty before Judge Thomas D. Carnahan to a charge of burglary and 10 charges of entering a building. After Judge Carnahan had remanded Iovino to jail to await sentence following the trial of three alleged accomplices in the robberies, the women trooped to the probation rooms, where they identified their belongings.

The homes reported robbed in connection with the case were those of George L. Neff, 1800 Beechwood boulevard; R. M. Lewis, 1603 Beechwood boulevard; W. M. Crumrine, 6525 Aylesboro avenue; A. C. Amos, 210 Carnegie place; C. E. Allman, 541 North Braddock avenue; W. H. Johnston, 6637 Reynolds street; Mrs. Martha Hadley, 6029 Meade street; C. E. Verden, 318 Elysian avenue; H. N. Lynch, 571 Greendale avenue, Edgewood; Harry Moore, 6029 Meade street, and Ralph Cucaro, 120 Miller street, Rankin.

Harry and Russell Woods, brothers, and Roy Woods, their cousin, arrested in the same cases, will be placed on trial September 6, and Iovino will be a commonwealth witness. Frank Delia, a jeweler, of 502 Braddock avenue, Braddock, brother-in-law of Iovino, is charged with receiving stolen goods.

WESTERN WOMEN STRONG FOR HOOVER, SAYS CAPPER

Herbert Hoover's humane work in famine-stricken Europe will bring him 85 per cent of the votes of the women of the West, United States Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, declared in a visit to Pittsburgh today.

Senator Capper, publisher of 10 rural magazines and newspapers, came here to effect a merger of his Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan farm publications with the Stockman-Farmer, published here. In future, he said, this will be one of his principal branch offices.

The Republican candidate for president will carry Kansas by 250,000 majority—50,000 more than President Coolidge piled up four years ago, Senator Capper said. He predicted Hoover success also in Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska and probably Wisconsin, though, in the latter state he said Smith would gain a large vote from the foreign, labor and liberal elements.

Senator Capper's publications have a total of more than 4,000,000 circulation. "Capper's Weekly" has more than 1,000,000. It is said to go regularly into the home of almost every rural Kansas resident. The Senator declined to discuss the possibility of his membership in the Hoover cabinet in the event of Republican success in November.

WOMAN SQUIRE CALLED TO JUDICIAL CARPET

Severely criticized by Judge Elder W. Marshall, Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley, was called into court this morning to receive instruction as to the proper conduct of her official affairs.

Detention of a man in jail longer than necessary because of an error in making return to the district attorney's office brought about the criticism.

A man who said he was Frank Barrett was committed to jail in default of bail as an accessory to the theft of an automobile. He was found sitting in a stolen machine by state police, who arraigned him before "Squire" Morgan.

Justice Morgan, in making return of the case, gave the name as "Barnett" on the face of the document. Inside, his right name was given. She explained that when arrested the man gave his name as Barnett, but Judge Marshall declared this was not sufficient reason for the mistake as both names should have been used in making the return, one as an alias.

Judge Marshall also inquired into Justice Morgan's system of docketing prisoners, and when she admitted making entries in a looseleaf book, he criticized her again. The law requires that a bound book be used for this purpose, Judge Marshall said, so that if a case is removed from the docket, the volume would be mutilated.

Presidential Campaign :-: Booms Tax Payments :-: In Allegheny County

LOTS OF MONEY!

Voters are starting the usual last-minute rush to the county treasurer's office to be assessed occupation tax in order that they may become eligible to vote in the November elections. Photo shows a line in front of one of the assessor's windows.

HOUSEWIVES' DUES

Housewives are assessed at the rate of $.75 each and these two have just registered. John White, Patrick Flynn, Joseph Rectenwald and John A. White are some of the assessors helping to take care of the daily throngs at room 108 in the Court House.

WAITING PATIENTLY

September 5 is the last day on which voters of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Clairton and Duquesne may be assessed. These three women patiently are awaiting their turn to register. They do say the presidential election is helping to bring out the taxpayers.

YOUR OCCUPATION

Although the occupation tax does not need to be paid until October 6, Cashier Clarence Richard's cage is the next stopping place for many of the voters after they receive their assessment vouchers.

C. OF C. URGES OTHER HALF TO VOTE

Pointing out that less than half the eligible voters in Pennsylvania exersiced their right of suffrage in the presidential election of 1924, the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce has inaugurated a patriotic drive to get out the vote. T. P. Gaylord, president of the chamber, announced that by use of newspaper advertisement an appeal would be issued to have the people assessed and register in preparation for the coming election.

"In the national election four years ago only 47.24 per cent of the eligible voters of Pennsylvania cast their ballots," declared Mr. Gaylord. "This is a very discreditable showing, for there are more than a dozen other states in which nearly 75 per cent of the eligible vote was cast.

"All good citizens will unite in the hope that the people of Pennsylvania will wipe out this stigma on their great state by polling at least two-thirds of their votes on November 6. Persons who desire to vote must be assessed by Wednesday next and must have their taxes paid up to October 5 in order to register."

Great importance is placed in the coming election, not only because it is a presidential election, but congressmen, representatives in the State Legislature and other important officers are to be chosen, as well as 14 amendments to the state Constitution voted upon. One of the proposed amendments is that providing the metropolitan plan for Allegheny county.

POOL TICKETS SEIZED IN RAID

Eight thousand pool tickets were confiscated by county detectives and Homestead police early today in a raid upon an alleged gambling house at 529 Third avenue, Homestead. Rufus Jackson, a Negro, said to be the proprietor, and five women and eight men visitors, the majority of whom were Negroes, were arrested.

Jackson was ordered to pay a fine of $25 on a charge of disorderly conduct by Burgess J. J. Cavanaugh and the visitors were ordered to pay $5 each in fines on the same charge. Jackson was held for court under $1,000 bail, by Justice of the Peace J. Clyde Miller, on charges of having possession of gambling devices.

SQUIRES AFRAID OF JOBS FIGHT GREATER CITY PLAN

Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie, arrested Tuesday by Federal prohibition agents for violating a parole of the United States District Court, presided yesterday at a meeting of aldermen, justices of the peace and constables who are opposed to the Metropolitan District Plan.

McMillen also serves on the executive committee of the body. Opposition to the plan is voiced because adoption of the metropolitan form of government in the county they contend would rip aldermen, magistrates and constables out of office.

There was a small attendance at the meeting of the organization which has been styled the Association of Aldermen, Justices of the Peace, Police Magistrates and Constables of Allegheny County.

A sub committee approved the following for membership in the executive committee. Alderman John J. Verona, chairman; Alderman Sol Goldstein, Police Magistrate Edward M. Hough, Alderman Martin J. Griffin, Alderman Patrick Cawley, Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan, Pittsburgh; Justice C. B. Burns, Imperial; Justice Margaret Morgan, Sewickley; Justice George K. Farrall, Crafton Heights; Justice Eugene Mehrlich, Shaler township and Justice McMillen, Carnegie.

The resignation of Justice George B. Shields, Wilkinsburg, as treasurer, on account of ill health, was accepted and Justice Goldstein named temporarily in his stead.

JUDGE CRISWELL DIES; 31 YEARS ON BENCH

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 30.—(AP.)—George Stuart Criswell, 78, for 31 years judge of Venango county courts, died yesterday, after a short illness. He became judge March 7, 1895. He was engaged in the general practice of law for 20 years with J. W. Lee, of Pittsburgh, and F. W. Hastings, of Bradford, in the firm of Lee, Criswell & Hastings.

100,000 OPENING SPAN SEE FLIER KILLED

By JOHN P. COWAN,
Staff Correspondent.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 30.—Death swept out of the sky and struck down its victim here yesterday in view of nearly 100,000 persons participating in a tri-state jubilee attending the formal opening of the new Ft. Steuben Bridge, spanning the Ohio River between Steubenville and Weirton, W. Va.

L. W. Holland, 55, a merchant, of Weirton, passenger in one of four airplanes engaged in an aerial demonstration over the bridge, was killed when the plane collapsed and fell in a thicket a few hundred yards from the river. Mrs. Helen Dailey, 19, his daughter, suffered fractures of the legs, and Lieut. T. Lowell Chase, pilot, escaped with contusions of the body and nervous shock. Lieut. Chase is director of the Ft. Steuben Airport.

FALLS DURING CEREMONY

The accident occurred a few minutes before the bridge was declared open for traffic. Congressman B. F. Murphy, master of ceremonies, addressing a great crowd gathered in the center of the bridge, paused a moment while the whirring planes overhead drowned his voice.

As they passed scarcely 250 feet above the river, Chase's tipped in an air current, crumpled up and plunged to the earth on the West Virginia side a short distance from the river.

Hundreds of spectators rushed from the bridge and crowded around the wreckage while West Virginia state police extricated the victims. Holland was dead when rescuers reached the plane. Lieut. Chase was unconscious, and Mrs. Dailey, both legs fractured, was unable to move.

While these scenes of tragedy were being enacted, the bridge-opening program was carried on. As the stretcher-bearers made their way across the field, gaily decorated motor floats were maneuvering alongside to get into the parade which was forming at the bridge approach. Steamboat whistles shrieked, bands played lively airs, and orators delivered their addresses according to schedule.

GIRLS CLIP RIBBON

"Miss Ohio" and "Miss West Virginia," represented respectively by Miss Margaret Collins, of Steubenville, and Miss Helen Cattrell, of Hollidays Cove, clipped the ribbon traffic barrier, and the parade of floats, official cars with distinguished guests, Boy Scouts and civic organizations moved across the span and through the festooned streets of the city, where a holiday had been declared, and confetti showered the marchers.

The bridge is owned by the Dravo Contracting Company, of Pittsburgh, and preliminary to the opening a luncheon was tendered about 75 guests, including many Pittsburgh business men, engineers and directors of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

In the evening the Steubenville Chamber of Commerce entertained the visitors at a banquet celebrating the close relationship between Steubenville and the populous town of Weirton, joining on the two sides of the river a metropolitan area of more than 120,000 population. C. D. Simeral was toastmaster.

The bridge has a concrete approach nearly a mile in length, and forms the western terminus of the Steubenville pike, which is now being improved and offers a direct short-line route from Pittsburgh.

Over this road is routed the William Penn highway, opening a new hard-surface automobile road between Pittsburgh and the West.

DRY AGENTS SILENCED ON POLITICAL DISCUSSIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Instructions to refrain from discussing politics of any nature were sent to all prohibition administrators yesterday. The order came from prohibition headquarters here.

The order instructed administrators to do nothing that could be construed as being done for political purposes. In addition, the heads of the various prohibition districts were urged to confer with subordinates and instruct them not to discuss politics or to do anything with political significance.

Failure to comply with the instructions, the order intimated, might mean dismissals.

PITTSBURGH AT THE SHORE

EAST END GIRLS FORGET HEAT

Heat waves were forgotten by these two East End girls as they lolled on Atlantic City's beach, spending their vacation in the path of ocean breezes. They are Hazel Hozier and Dorothy Lenington, of Spahr and Alder streets.

FOR PITTSBURGH'S FAIR ONES

WILL THEY TAKE UP "HORSESHOES?"

Will Pittsburgh's fair ones take to quoits—"horseshoes," if you're old-fashioned—as the girls in other cities are doing? Will they set up spikes in, shall we say, Schenley Park and toss the iron gently for "ringers" and "leaners?" This picture shows a fair quartet of the Illinois Women's Athletic Club of Chicago having a hectic afternoon doing just that.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

SENATOR JOSEPH T. ROBINSON'S official acceptance of his selection as the Democratic party's vice presidential nominee will go on the air at 10:30 o'clock tonight. WJAS will be in the hookup. The ceremony will take place on the steps of the Arlington Hotel at Hot Springs. Claude Bowers, the Hoosier statesman, who delivered the stirring keynote address at Houston, will make the notification speech. Chairman John J. Raskob, of the Democratic National Committee, will preside. An address of welcome will be delivered by Gov. John E. Martineau, of Arkansas. There will be music by the National Guard band of Arkansas.

William Carlino, conductor and composer, and a mandolin orchestra will be presented during the Orchestras That Differ period over KDKA at 9 o'clock. The program will consist principally of small pieces, such as are played by the strings of the Italian street-orchestra, mandolin, mandola, bandurria, etc. "Polka de Concert," by Mr. Carlino, will be played as a mandolin solo, and "Vela" as a mandola feature. Numbers by the orchestra will include Padilla's "I Relicario," Waldteufel's "Barcarolle," a waltz, "Tango Blue," by Rettinberg, "Amapola," by La Calle, and a potpourri of Neapolitan songs.

An all-Scottish program will be broadcast by the River Choristers through WCAE at 8 o'clock. Such traditional tunes as "Annie Laurie," "Ye Banks of Braes o' Bonny Doon," "Loch Lomond" and "Auld Lang Syne" will be offered.

Nathaniel Shilkret has made a special arrangement of Harry T. Burleigh's Negro spiritual, "Deep River," which will be played by an orchestra as a feature of the Maxwell concert to be heard through KDKA at 9:30 o'clock. The program, after its usual opening with the "Old Colonel March," will proceed with Godard's "Scenes Poetique," which, as the title implies, is a collection of sketches or tone pictures, including "In the Woods," "On the Mountains" and "In the Village." This group will be followed by the melodious "Extase," by Ganne; "Baccanale," from Saint-Saëns' "Samson and Delilah," and a popular number in salon arrangement.

The Michelin Men, a quartet and orchestra directed by W. F. Fauerback and Louis Katzman, respectively, will present a popular program through KDKA at 10:00 o'clock. Opening with "Breezin' Along With the Breeze" "Moonlight On the Ganges," the orchestra will proceed with "I Can't Do Without You," "Winging Home" and "Moments With You," by Shilkret. The vocalists will present "Guatemala Melody" and "Blue Grass."

POLL SHOWS SMITH'S GAINS

By CHARLES N. WHEELER,
Noted Political Analyst.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30. — Wisconsin and New Jersey, as a result of this week's developments, for the present may be lifted from the "doubtful" column and labeled "Probably Democratic."

While both these states may do some back-tracking before November 6, both the nation-wide poll by Hearst publications and reports from the field workers point clearly to a pro-Smith swing.

The dramatic spear-head thrust of the Democrats in Wisconsin, led by United States Senator John J. Blaine, caused the first sensation of the national struggle.

The urban vote of the Badger state was running strongly to Smith before the Blaine apostacy. The open championship of the Democratic presidential ticket by the Senator, according to impartial observers, is likely to cause a sort of stampede of the rank and file of the old La Follette forces to the Tammany band wagon.

There is, however, a great rural vote that has not yet been uncovered. So far as the canvassers have gone out in the state there is unmistakable evidence of a strong pro-Hoover sentiment, but thus far it is not sufficient to overcome the Smith lead.

While Smith, it appears, is going to carry Milwaukee 2 to 1 over Mr. Hoover, the state-wide vote, as far as canvassed, gives Smith a total of 10,508 to 9,524 for Mr. Hoover—an indication that the country vote may yet point to a close finish in this state.

BIG VOTE PROBABLE

What the poll particularly discloses in Wisconsin cities is that Smith is apparently rolling up a vote in excess of the total La Follette and Davis vote of 1924. In some spots it is considerably greater, which may point to not only a tremendous Smith vogue in these spots, but an increased total vote in the state of large proportions.

Should the La Follette forces, led by Senators Blaine and Bob, Jr., triumph in next Tuesday's primaries, Democratic leaders would be inclined to increase their figures as to the November outcome.

The New Jersey explosion centered around the raid made in Newark by the Raskob sharpshooters, resulting in the switching of Uzal H. McCarter, president of the Fidelity-Union Trust Company, from the Republican to the Democratic fold.

This important defection from the G. O. P. ranks, taken in connection with Mayor Frank Hague's promise that New Jersey will roll up the biggest Democratic vote in its history, is bound to create discomfiture among the G. O. P. strategists.

SMITH WINS WOMEN

The Hearst poll in New Jersey, as far as completed, supports the Hague claim. The totals for the state this morning are: Smith, 3,615; Hoover, 1,765. The figures also indicate that Smith is not only polling more than twice as many men votes as Mr. Hoover, but that he is piling up a strong lead with the women votes, running almost two to one in this column.

Of course, this is largely the Hudson county vote thus far, with most of the outstate territory yet to hear from.

But so far as surface indications go, which corroborate the poll by the Hearst papers, Mr. Smith is several lengths out in front and going like a streak of blue lightning all along the coast.

Wisconsin and New Jersey, if added to the Smith column, would more than offset the possible loss of Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island. These three states have a total of only 15 electoral votes, as against 27 in Jersey and the Badger state.

Big Decrease Here In Infantile Paralysis

A decided decrease of infantile paraysis in the city this year over last year is shown by the records in the bureau of infectuous diseases health department.

Last year statistics show 56 cases were reported to the health office. From January this year to the present date but five cases have been reported.

The last case of this disease was reported over a month ago. Should the same ratio be maintained for the remaining four months of this year, a record for the small number of cases will be made.

5-YEAR-OLD, BURNED WHILE PLAYING, DIES

Elmo LeDonne, 5, of 440 Cedarville street, died last night at West Penn Hospital of burns suffered yesterday. The report to the coroner did not state how the child had been injured, but police learned he had been burned while playing near his home.

TWO CLEANERS ACCUSED OF PILFERING IN STORE

Two women cleaners at a department store are to have a hearing in Morals Court on charges of having attempted to carry foodstuffs home from the store restaurant. They are Mary Manko, of Glenarm avenue, Brookline, and Mary Stranka, of Beltzhoover avenue.

AVALON LOCKUP JANITOR FALLS DEAD AT WORK

Thomas Gerzken, 55, of 535 California avenue, Avalon, a janitor at the borough police station, collapsed while at work in the lockup last night and died a short time later. At the morgue it was stated death had resulted from natural causes.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

DOLLY'S GUEST

By LOUISE PEPLE ARMSTRONG

"CAN you come over here for about an hour?" the voice of Minna Davison held a note of anxiety, and it was obviously lowered.

"I may be able to," replied Dolly Winston uncertainly, "if it's important. Otherwise I'd rather come tonight. Tom'll be home early."

"It's dreadfully important," pleaded Minna.

"All right, I'll come."

Dolly hung up the telephone with a puzzled expression on her winsome face. Minna Davison, her new neighbor, some years older than she, was not given to superlatives, and something had happened to ruffle her poised placidity. Only a few days ago the Winstons had stumbled upon a secret in Mrs. Davison's life, learned of her former marriage, the death of her young husband who was the son of a wealthy family, and how in desperation the young mother had been finally forced to give up her baby to them. Minna's son, now grown, had learned who his mother was, and sometimes visited her in the absence of George Davison. Her second husband's jealousy of the past forced her to this subterfuge, and George traveled a great deal of the time.

These facts flashed through Dolly Winston's mind as she drove her sports-roadster up the highway, toward the Davison house. "He's come back unexpectedly," she said to herself, "I suppose she is expecting Ralph, her son, and hasn't been able to communicate with him."

Someone leaped from the wayside shrubbery, sprang on the running board of her car, vaulted the door and slid into the seat beside Dolly. "Neatly done," she observed, without turning her eyes from the road.

"Thanks," said the charming bass voice of Ralph Deeming. "I was something of a sprinter at college."

"Your mother 'phoned me to come over and help her out," Dolly said. "I guessed what she wanted. George Davison's home and she can't bear sending you away without seeing you—so you're supposed to be my guest! But how did you know—and come to meet me like that?"

"I hadn't gotten to the house," Ralph explained, "when I met the maid—with a note from my mother. Drive slower, Mrs. Winston, there's something I'd like to say to you."

Dolly glanced at the flushed boyish face for the first time, at the regular features, dark, wavy hair and serious gray eyes. There was something appealing about the boy. "Call me, Dolly," she said, impulsively, "since you're to pose as my guest. What's troubling you, Ralph?"

"My mother," Ralph replied. "You know I'm devoted to her—er—Dolly. But I don't like this confounded secrecy! She has forbidden me to tell my grandparents that I've seen her, and one would think she's ashamed of me, having me sneak into her home! Or else she's afraid of her husband. And any man who will bully a woman—"

"I quite agree with you," Dolly interrupted him. "There shouldn't be any secrecy. Perhaps your mother's afraid of upsetting a happy life, rather than fearing her husband! She must have been very lonely before her second marriage, and I'm sure they love each other. More than that, Ralph, her husband opened the doors of contentment and peace for her, and any woman approaching middle age is grateful to know that she'll never be alone in the world!"

A few minutes later she and Ralph were entering the Davison living-room. "I brought my friend, Ralph Deeming!" Dolly explained to George, who had risen from an armchair before the cheerful fire.

Minna came in a moment later, tall and stately in a clinging white gown that seemed to emphasize her clear olive complexion and dark hair. Dolly felt a lump rise in her throat, seeing Minna greet her son, as a stranger, trying to keep the light of happiness out of her eyes, not betray her emotion.

"Come over to see us tonight," urged Dolly when half-hour later she and Ralph arose to go. "We'll have some bridge."

"I'll be busy with reports tonight," George Davison replied, "Minna might go—how about it, dear?"

"I'll be glad," Minna said quickly with a grateful glance at Dolly, "I'll be glad to go."

"Tom and I'll fool around in the kitchen, make fudge," Dolly told Ralph Deeming as they drove off together. "We often do, so you can see your mother alone—and of course you'll stay the night with us. As a matter of fact, since circumstances are as they are, there's no reason why you shouldn't be our guest whenever you can run down from New York."

Ralph did come often after that, as Dolly's guest, and he and Minna seemed very grateful for her help and kindness. One day in the early spring Dolly 'phoned Minna of his arrival and that evening Ralph and the Winstons went over.

George and Tom went into the little den off from the dining room to smoke and talk shop.

After several minutes of silence, save for the rumble of masculine voices from the den, Dolly heard Tom exclaim savagely. She almost jumped out of her chair, and her heart seemed to stop beating.

"That's a lie!" Tom repeated. "How dare you say—"

"The whole town's talking!" George's voice arose now, insistent and emphatic. "Thought you ought to know! A young man like that coming to call on your wife, running about with her—why, they're over here all the time, and and this afternoon I forbade Minna—"

Something crashed in the den, and Dolly sprang up and crossed the floor, flinging open the door. George Davison was lying on his back, and Tom stood over him, his hands clinched.

"Oh, Tom!" she cried out. "Please don't, Dear—"

"He accuses you of having an affair with young Deeming!"

"I think, gentlemen," the voice of Ralph spoke behind her, "that it's about time for us to tell Mr. Davison the truth!"

George scrambled to his feet, looked uncertainly at Dolly, his wife and the dark, handsome stranger. They had all crowded into the narrow doorway, and Ralph's face, under his tan, was very white.

"What does it mean? Tell me the truth," he begged.

"Wait!" Minna said to Ralph in her golden-fluted voice, and she drew her arm through her son's, looked proudly into his face. "I don't see why an explanation should be necessary—George should be able to see—the truth!"

"By jove, Minna," cried George, "Your son!"

"And truly," Dolly told her husband an hour later when they drove home alone, leaving a united family behind them, "truly they were alike—and I thought of Venus and Apollo as I saw them standing there! There's a strange charm about them both, and I wonder," she added shyly, "that you haven't been a little jealous of me—running about with Ralph Deeming!"

"That kid!" Tom's laugh was full of confidence. "You've got more sense, my dear!"

Dolly was pleased at the compliment, of course, but at the same time she was a little irritated at Tom's placidity. After all, what woman could be thrilled over being called just sensible?

HAS SISTER'S PARTY RAIDED

BROTHER, PUT OUT, CALLS POLICE

A gay party was in progress, police say, when they invaded the home of Mrs. Helen Blair, 32, of 5715 Center avenue last night, at the request of Mrs. Blair's brother, J. E. Black, of 810 North Highland avenue.

Black, the unbidden guest, was thrown out by a 200-pound bouncer, he testified, when he discovered that the guests were dancing around the table "half clad."

Mrs. Blair was fined $100 today, with an option of 30 days in the workhouse, on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. Two of the visitors, Frank Milton, 7413-A Penn avenue, and Ellen Morgan, 29, of 324 Coltart square, were each fined $10.

The bouncer was not present when the police raided the house, and another woman, arrested, failed to appear for the hearing.

Black said he went to his sister's home to get a talking machine he had left there. His request for the phonograph was refused as the machine "was needed to provide music for the party," he testified.

There was evidence of much drinking, there being glasses and liquor bottles scattered around, he says. His testimony concerning the liquor end of the party was corroborated by the police who made the arrests.

3 YEARS FOR INN OWNER

George Hess, proprietor of the Wildcat Inn, a roadhouse on the Cliff Mine road near the John A. Bell farm, was sentenced to serve from one and a half to three years in the Allegheny county jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors and his wife was paroled this morning by Judge Thomas B. Carnahan in connection with his alleged harboring of runaways from the Gumbert School for Girls.

According to testimony, Tillie Weber, Rose Anderson and Sadie O'Hara ran away from the Gumbert school last May. One of the girls returned and told school authorities the other two were at the Wildcat Inn, and a raid followed on May 16. Hess and his wife were arrested and the girls returned to the school.

SLEUTHS TRAIL WRECKERS

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 30.—Vandals, who two weeks ago sought to wreck a New York Central railroad freight train at Shannon's Crossing, near here, are being trailed by state police and railroad detectives, it was learned today.

The motive for the attempt is believed to have been robbery, due to the care with which the vandals clamped cross-ties across the tracks. The engine struck the ties and pushed them several hundred feet before coming to a stop.

A passenger train which preceded the freight by half an hour, reported the track clear. The train carried a valuable cargo of freight.

PGH. FUGITIVE CAPTURED

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—C. C. Campbell, who, police said, was a check forger, wanted on forgery charges in many cities, is under arrest here. A detective who had just read a description of Campbell in a hotel lobby saw the man talking with a desk clerk about cashing a check.

Cities where he is wanted include Philadelphia, New York, Columbus, Toledo, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago, police said. Campbell had been employed as a salesman.

FINE 3 WOMEN FOR BEGGING

"A disgrace to womanhood," commented Magistrate John Orie in Morals Court today in addressing three women, all above 45 years, who had been arrested in East Park, North Side, where it is alleged they had been drinking and begging money from visitors in the park. All are said by the police to be old offenders. Nora Thomas, 60, was ordered to pay a fine of $10 or serve 10 days in jail. Margaret Butler and Mary Murray were ordered to pay fines of $10 or serve 10 days in the workhouse.

International Society makes the Blindfold Test

MILLICENT, Duchess of Sutherland chooses OLD GOLD

WHILE having tea with several American friends, someone suggested that it would be amusing to try the blindfold cigarette test, now so popular in America. I volunteered as the subject, and while blindfolded, smoked the four different makes of cigarettes . . . each brand making its appeal "incognito." Without the least hesitation, I named Cigarette Number 3 as the best...and it proved to be an OLD GOLD. I am not at all clairvoyant, nor am I a particularly good guesser. I identified my favorite cigarette, OLD GOLD, because its delightful smoothness and coolness immediately distinguished it, to my taste and throat, from the other brands.

Millicent Sutherland

MILLICENT, DUCHESS OF SUTHERLAND, daughter of the Earl of Rosslyn. She is deeply interested in social questions, and is widely known as a writer of notable books and plays. She is one of the most brilliant and active women in England.

The Duchess made the blindfold test at La Maison du Monastere—her beautiful country place in France. The Duchess was asked to smoke one each of the four leading American brands, clearing her taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

What is this quality that tells . . . even in the dark?

OLD GOLD'S honey-like smoothness . . . that's the net of it. But this cool and fragrant charm can come only from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant. No heavy, coarse top-leaves . . . no withered ground-leaves. That's why OLD GOLDS are different, better . . . why you can always pick them.

PARTED "FRIENDS"

ALMA RUBENS

This marriage business grows more intricate daily. Alma Rubens and Ricardo Cortez, the film stars, have separated, it appears, but, Alma asserts, they're still "good friends." Long considered the film colony's model couple, now they're living in separate homes. They had dinner together last night, which indicates that neither is on a hunger strike.

"I'd promote Lane

. . . if it weren't for 'B. O.'"

(Body Odor)

LANE'S big chance—the job he had worked for and hoped to get—had gone to a subordinate.

"It's no use," he complained to the boss's assistant. "You've got to have pull around here."

"You're wrong, Lane," was the angry reply. "I happen to know that you would have had that promotion—if it weren't for 'B. O.'"

"B. O."—body odor! A harsh remark—but it proved a real kindness. Lane took the hint. Let him tell you how he overcame his handicap and later won his big promotion.

Body odor easily ended

"I made my big mistake in thinking I was safe from body odor. I wasn't. We're perspiring all the time. But we get so used to the odor that we ourselves don't notice it. Others do.

"Now I know that the best way to make sure we don't offend is to deodorize the pores with a purifying toilet soap like Lifebuoy. After a Lifebuoy bath I feel full of pep, refreshed. And no 'B. O.' now to interfere with my progress. Today I hold one of the best paid jobs in the office.

So good for complexions!

"And I've found Lifebuoy so thoroughly satisfying that it's now the only toilet soap I ever use. It gives such wonderful lather, is so cleansing and keeps the skin so nice and smooth.

"My whole family feels safer using a toilet soap that gets rid of germs. We all like its pleasant and clean scent that vanishes right after rinsing."

Try Lifebuoy a week and you, too, will use it for life. Get some today.

MRS. CORDLE'S DAUGHTER LIKE A DIFFERENT GIRL

Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

DAUGHTER OF MRS. G. H. CORDLE
833 Hazel St., Macon, Georgia

Macon, Ga.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel much relieved and I am giving it to my daughter, too. At twelve years of age she was so pale that even her lips had no color. She couldn't hold out to do any work to amount to anything. I gave her the Vegetable Compound and now at 13 years of age she is like a different girl. We are willing for you to use these facts for a testimonial as we cannot praise the Vegetable Compound too much. We will continue to take it and tell of its wonderful value."—Mrs. G. H. Cordle, 833 Hazel Street, Macon, Georgia.

Will Answer Letters

"I am a young mother, eighteen years of age. From early girlhood I suffered terribly because of a run-down condition. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see if it would help me, as she was worried. I did, and now I feel fine. After suffering for five years like I did and then taking nothing but the Vegetable Compound, you may be sure I am recommending it to others. I am willing for you to use anything I say as a testimonial and I will answer letters from any woman wanting to know about the medicine."—Mrs. Dewey Moore, 827 Broderick St., Columbus, Ohio.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

Gloria Swanson Plans Music And Dialogue Sequences in Her New Photoplay, "Queen Kelly"

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.

GLORIA'S plans for "Queen Kelly" are rounding more and more into shape. Miss Swanson has determined to have sound in her picture, and will use the "Photophone" device for its synchronization. In addition to noise and music, there will be dialogue, too. Eight voice tests taken of Gloria during her recent New York visit have proven entirely satisfactory. And at the present time four engineers from United Artists and the Radio Corporation are en route to Hollywood for the supervision of sound sequences. The musical score of the picture will be synchronized by a well-known musical director.

Thoroughness has always been a characteristic of Gloria's in the production field. She goes to endless pains to make sure that the minutest details of her photodrama are exactly as she wishes them. Adhering to this, the star has had her home wired for the projection of sound pictures, and will view each day's "rushes" in her own projection room. There have been three recent additions to the "Queen Kelly" cast. They are Tully Marshall, Maude George and Albert Conti. Erich Von Stroheim will soon start shooting.

Marceline Day, who is free-lancing like sister Alice, has been substituted for Jacqueline Logan in Columbia's picture, "Driftwood," in which Don Alvarado has the masculine lead. Jacqueline dashed into Agua Caliente and committed matrimony. Agua Cliente, oddly enough, means "hot water." Her divorce is not yet final, so the Mexican marriage is only a sort of lick and promise for the time being. She and her bridegroom will live apart until they can have a regular U. S. A. wedding.

Remember that song, "Shine On Harvest Moon"? Remember who sang it? Yep, Jack Norworth. Jack was married to Nora Bayes then. Nora helped a lot to put that song and lots of others over. She's gone now. Well, what I began to say was that Jack Norworth will be Texas Guinan's leading man in the first of the "yellies" she is to make for Warner Brothers. Here's hoping they give Jack a chance to sing some of the old favorites.

Ben Lyon made his first solo flight the other day and handled his plane like a veteran. For which he may thank the many months he spent starring in "Hell's Angels." Ben declares he has ordered a plane for immediate delivery and will fly this week to the Utah location where Marie Prevost and he will make "The Exodus," an epic of the Mormons.

Paul Fejos, the imported director, has made a tremendous impression on Universal officials. He created something approaching a sensation with "Lonesome," in which Glenn Tryon starred, and is now busy with Conrad Weidt on "Eric the Great." It is very much of a secret, however, that Fejos has been chosen to wield the megaphone when Universal begins to make its celluloid version of "Broadway," rights of which cost something like a quarter-million dollars. It is scheduled to be the very biggest picture Universal has yet made. Thus Fejos receives the highest honor that may be bestowed by the Laemmle outfit.

Alice White, the script-girl star, celebrated her twenty-first birthday the other day by attending a preview of her first starring picture, "Show Girl." It is a good picture—therefore a good birthday present. One of Alice's prize possessions is a print of the still picture which secured her chance in the kind that movie.

When the California prison board met last week to consider paroles for prisoners, the names of Paul Kelly and Dorothy Mackaye were on the list. Their friends have never ceased working in their behalf since the doors of the 'big house" excluded them from the world. Action on the application is expected within the next few days.

Metro is certainly copping a long list of celebs for its sound films. The latest to succumb to the lure is Eva Le Gallienne, of New York's Civic Repertory theater. She and her company have been signed for a series of dramatic sketches to be made in New York. It will be the first time Lil Eva has appeared in the pictures.

Hyena Is Jungle Fiend, Says Hunter

Of all the sneaking creatures of the jungle, the hyena is the worst. This is the opinion of no less an authority than Martin Johnson, whose picture of the African big game country, "Simba," will open Monday afternoon in the Nixon.

"The hyena is in all ways contemptible," asserts Mr. Johnson. "He is slinking, cowardly, cruel, selfish and unsocial. I have seen a hyena run through a herd of defenceless goats at night, hamstringing one after another, for no reason except the fiendish joy of torturing them. Sometimes at a waterhole he will break the backs of smaller animals or otherwise mutilate them and leave them to die.

"The hyena kills, not for food, but for deviltry. He will lie in the bushes and spring out at young goats as they pass down the trail. He is a born murderer, a coward and a sneak.

"I met a couple of hyenas one day near my camp. They were 'laughing,' like a couple of traveling men over a story. It was the first time I had ever heard a hyena laugh, and it was so funny that I laughed too until my sides ached. But that is the only amusement a hyena ever gave me. Usually the sentiment he arouses in me is utter contempt."

FACES YOU WILL SEE -:- IN LOCAL THEATERS -:- LABOR DAY WEEK

Laura Hamilton comes Monday to the Alvin in the comedy drama, "Burlesque."

Mrs. Martin Johnson and native attendant bring down a water buffalo in "Simba," coming Nixon film.

Gus Forbes will be in "Nightie Nighty," farewell stock play in the Pitt.

Janet Gaynor is in the Aldine film booking "The Street Angel."

Marion Daives is the star of "The Cardboard Lover," in the Penn next week.

Richard Dix is coming to the Stanley in "Warming Up."

NEW DRAMAS NEXT WEEK

Seats go on sale today at the Alvin box office for the one-week engagement, beginning with a Labor Day matinee, of "Burlesque," the Arthur Hopkins comedy. Hal Skelly and Barbara Stanwyck have the featured roles.

The George Sharp Players say goodbye in the Pitt next week, with their presentation, "Nightie Night." According to Mr. Sharp, the company would have remained until the middle of October, as they did last year, but for the fact that the Shuberts are preparing to reseat and completely renovate the interior of the Pitt, thus making it necessary for the stock players to vacate. The Sharp unit plans to return the first week of March, 1929.

Twice a year the warriors of the Lumbwa tribe in the interior of Africa set out on a lion war. One of these semi-annual ventures against the dreaded "simba," as they call the lion, provides one of the thrilling sequences in the picture, "Simba," coming to the Nixon Labor Day for a two-week engagement. There will be matinees daily.

Vaudeville in the Harris next week will include "Battling Terry," a comedy skit by Walter Newman and his players. Another act will be "Varsity Varieties," a youthful song and dance offering.

"Midgetland," featuring a group of midgets, and a song act by Edith Clifford are to be offered in the Sheridan Square next week.

Richard Dix will come to the Stanley screen Monday in "Warming Up," a baseball romance with sound effects.

Marion Davies will open on the Penn screen Labor Day in her latest starring comedy-drama, "The Cardboard Lover," based on the Jeanne Eagels' stage drama.

Monday will usher in a season of talking and sound pictures in the Aldine. The opening presentation will be "The Street Angel," with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.

The Grand and Liberty next week will present the new Emil Jannings' production, "The Street of Sin."

COMMISSIONERS OPEN BIDS ON BRIDGE JOBS

Bids were opened by County Commissioners yesterday for erection of Shams Hollow Bridge. The low bidder was Clair B. McDermott, at $28,972. The McDermott concern was also low bidder for erection of Chartiers Creek Bridge, at $9,742. For erection of a utility house and lighting posts on Glassport-Clairton Bridge, the Pitt Construction Company was low bidder at $3,490. The Keystone Lumber Company, was low bidder for supplying lumber for rebuilding Cow Hollow Bridge.

"Hard to say, but I often have to warn the girls"
—Says a woman athletic director

When they learn of this new process* which neutralizes all odor in sanitary pads, they no longer fear offending others—self-consciousness disappears entirely

NO woman, from girlhood on, is free from the possibility of offending others at times. Often she is not even aware of it. When she learns, doubt and worry make light-heartedness impossible. Now a discovery of Kotex scientists overcomes this fear; each pad is scientifically treated to end all odor. The process is patented. No other pad offers such security.

No evidence of sanitary protection

That other fear—the feeling of being conspicuous—is also eliminated. Corners of the Kotex pad are scientifically rounded and tapered so as to leave no evidence of sanitary protection worn.

Yet every advantage remains

When you need greater or less protection, you can so easily add or subtract layers of filler. It is, as always, absorbent to an amazing degree. The fact that you can so easily dispose of it makes a great difference to women. And a new treatment renders it softer, fluffier, than you thought possible.

Won't you try the Improved Kotex—buy a box this very day. It is 45c for a box of twelve, at any drug, dry goods or department store; also obtained through vending cabinets in rest-rooms.

Deodorizes . . . and 4 other important features:

1—Softer gauze ends chafing; pliable filler absorbs as no other substance can;
2—Corners are rounded and tapered; no evidence of sanitary protection under any gown;
3—Deodorizes—safely, thoroughly, by a new and exclusive patented process;
4—Adjust it to your needs; filler may be made thinner, thicker, narrower as required;
and
5—It is easily disposed of; no unpleasant laundry.

*Kotex is the only sanitary pad that deodorizes by patented process. (Patent No. 1,670,587, granted May 22, 1928.)

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Fall Rivals June as Season of Brides With Many Important Weddings Scheduled on Social Calendar

SUMMER is always a season of romance, and sees more faiths plighted than ever did winter with all its galaxy of balls. And since summer has always been known to be quite "romance evoking," why in the good old days was June considered the time of weddings? Perhaps folks in our grandmothers' day didn't mind waiting until the June following their "engagement" summer. But nowadays life is not so placid. And folks do things in more of a hurry, even when it comes to weddings. So today fall rivals June as a season of brides.

This fall there will be, as usual, quite a number of important weddings, socially speaking. Usually these marriages in the autumn are rather small affairs, for people are not yet always back from summer resorts. June does still, on the whole, have larger weddings than the fall, but once in a while the autumn can boast of as beautiful a wedding as ever a June day saw.

I've just heard of another wedding that will take place in the fall. It will be a small home ceremony, too. You remember, don't you, that in June Mary Lapsley Caughey's engagement to Dr. George Martin Guest, of Cincinnati, was announced? Mary has named October 20 as the date for their marriage. The wedding will take place that day at 5:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's father, Edward Grant Caughey, of Pine road, Edgeworth.

Mary is a noteworthy example of a society girl who does not find just parties and sports enough for her. And some folks would be surprised to learn how many girls there are like her! Mary is a Vassar girl, and she also has studied at Bryn Mawr and the University of Brussells.

Dr. Guest is a graduate of the Cincinnati Medical School, and has studied at both Brussells and Vienna. And at one time he was an instructor in the Harvard Medical College.

THE members of the older set, the fathers and mothers, are more likely to stay "put" when they once open up their summer homes along the Atlantic Coast or in Canada than the younger set. The young folks spend quite a bit of the summer going from resort to resort visiting their friends. Anna K. Childs, daughter of Thomas Howe Childs, has been spending much of the summer at Watch Hill with her friend, Mrs. Alan Magee Scaife, who was Sarah Mellon, as you undoubtedly know. This week Anna will go to Greenwich, Conn., I hear, to be the guest of Eleanor Croft at the Croft summer home. Eleanor hasn't been in Greenwich herself all summer. Just last week, if I remember correctly, she was down at White Sulphur Springs.

QUITE a number of Pittsburgh folks are being seen in New York these days on their way to or from some resort, and mostly "from" these days. Mrs. James W. Arrott, while in New York for a few days, was at the St. Regis and the John M. Lazears were at the Roosevelt.

MRS. G. L. Farrell, of South Highland avenue, who, with her daughter, Mrs. T. A. Gilliland, of Kinsman road, has been at Ocean City for the summer, will go to Canada to be a guest at Louis B. Hays' home at Beaumaris. Mrs. Farrell will return in October.

THE marriage of Miss Marguerite Voorhees Bahmer, daughter of William J. Bahmer, of Maple terrace, Mt. Washington, and John William Slayton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Slayton, of Mt. Washington, was solemnized at 5:45 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Mt. Washington Methodist Episcopal Church.

The bride wore a period gown of white taffeta, the skirt cut long in back, and a veil of tulle held by clusters of lilies of the valley. She carried white rosebuds, with lilies of the valley. Miss Margaret P. Traynor, as maid of honor, wore blue taffeta and Miss Dorothy Downall, the bridesmaid, peach taffeta. They carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Edward Miller was best man, and the ushers were William Russell, Elmer Richter and Frank Van Essen. Mr. and Mrs. Slayton have gone for an eastern automobile trip, and will make their home in Maple terrace.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Miss Ione Mizer, of Bakersville, O., and Mrs. Virginia Hostettler, of Oklahoma City.

MISS ARMILDA HAGERLING, daughter of F. C. Hagerling, of Sherman avenue, Mt. Oliver, became the bride of Urban G. Held, of Rural street, East End, at a pretty church ceremony, held at St. Joseph's Church, Mt. Oliver, Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. She wore white georgette and a veil of old point lace, arranged in cap fashion with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Frances Yeloushan, of Morningside avenue, as maid of honor wore orchid georgette and a small velvet hat to match, and carried sweetheart roses. Miss Rosella Brust, of Jeannette, wore a green velvet dress and hat. Betty Held, small niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl wore a frock of yellow georgette over pink, and carried a basket of yellow roses. Gilbert C. Held was his brother's best man, and Frederick and Anthony Klein were ushers. A breakfast in the home of the bride's father followed with covers laid for 40.

After an eastern motor trip Mr. and Mrs. Held will be at home on Walnut street, East End, September 15.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM T. SIMMONS, of Kossuth street, Rochester, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Nellie J. Simmons, to Gardner MacG. Fergusson, son of Mrs. Forrest Gardner Fergusson, of Welland, Ontario, Canada, which took place Tuesday.

SEPTEMBER 3 is the date chosen by Miss Emily Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bartlett, of Duquesne Heights, for her marriage to Nicodemus Casabona, of Ambridge. The ceremony will be performed at 9 o'clock in St. Peter's Church. Mrs. Victoria Calabria will be her sister's matron of honor, Miss Beatrice and Miss Selma Smith will be bridesmaids, and Lelia Scarella, flower girl. Joseph Mazziotti, of Warren, Pa., will be best man, and Frank Beam and J. William Kalb, ushers.

THE REV. DR. WILLIAM PORKESS, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Wilkinsburg, and Mrs. Porkess have returned from a European tour of three months. They visited England, Scotland, Wales, France, Switzerland and Italy.

THAW'S EX-DIRECTOR SUES FOR DAMAGE IN FILM CASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—Harry K. Thaw, through counsel, is taking steps to fight a $50,000 damage suit brought against him by Charles Edward Davenport, movie director.

Davenport claims damages for Thaw's release of three films, in the direction of which Davenport had a part, and for his sudden discharge from the millionaire's employ.

Thaw's attorney obtained an order yesterday requiring Davenport to appear in Supreme Court today to show cause why an examination before trial notice should not be vacated, and why he should not produce his contract with Thaw.

COMMERCE CHAMBER TO BACK AIR PROJECTS

Members of the committee are expected to discuss undertaking a canvass of air mail users to get their support for the establishment of night service.

Have That Footlight Sheen

By Edna Wallace Hopper

To my audiences, my hair is of everlasting interest. It always looks alive and women admire its constant sheen.

One of my "secrets" is mere cleanliness. The fascinating glow comes from the regular use of my liquid Wave and Sheen.

I shampoo my hair once a week under ordinary circumstances. After it dries I comb it and apply Wave and Sheen. Then I place my combs in the direction I wish the waves. (My hair is not curly).

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

You can get Wave and Sheen at any toilet counter. The price is 75 cents. Your money refunded if you are not pleased with results.

SEIBEL BACK FROM TRIP ABROAD

George Seibel, dramatic and literary editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, arrived in Pittsburgh today from Europe, where he spent four months. He visited Portugal, Italy, Austria, Germany, France and England.

As national president of the American Turners, Mr. Seibel took a leading part in the German Turnfest at Cologne. Eighty American gymnasts were in the competitive games, and one of them, Emil Preiss, of Chicago, captured first place.

"It is a great honor for America," said Mr. Seibel, "as there were about 15,000 contestants. They came from all over the world; even Brazil and Cape Colony sent teams."

Preiss, of Chicago, had the same number of points as Karl Reuter, of Giessen, Germany. Just 10 days before the festival Mr. Seibel had been the guest of the University of Giessen at a reception to which the president of the Giessen Turnverein was invited.

"If first place at Cologne is not captured by an American Turner," Mr. Seibel said in replying to the addresses of welcome, "I hope someone from Giessen will get it."

At the Turnfest Mr. Seibel wore the American badge and the Giessen badge side by side. And wishes came true. America was tied with Giessen for first honors.

NUMEROUS MILK AND ICE FUND BENEFITS PLANNED

A single gift of $5 is made to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund today, which brings the total to $2,041.56. "A. C. H." is the kind-hearted but anonymous donor.

Telephone messages concerning a number of benefits being given by children in various parts of the city have come to those in charge of the fund and it looks like the total will be traveling upward at a most satisfying rate, once these proceeds are all in. There is always a last-minute spurt on the part of youngsters who have been delaying their milk and ice benefits until alarmingly near school's opening day. Only a few days remain now before boys and girls will be trooping back to their desks and then the burden of carrying the fund will be shifted to older shoulders.

Little heads, busy with their studies, seem unable to find time to plan help for the babies of the fund. Therefore, if it is to grow further and be made effective for the winter's work of the Milk and Ice Association, the grown up boys and girls must of necessity become the responsible ones.

The Prince of Wales — His Story.

Sees Battle Activities at Front But Is Denied Request to Fight

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

His Royal Highness, Edward, Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, was born at White Lodge, Richmond, in midsummer of 1894. Guilty of much mischief during childhood days, he was often punished. When he grew older he was sent to Osborne Naval College, where he made rapid strides in his studies. Investiture of his title took place at Carnarvon Castle, in Wales. After leaving Osborne he was sent to Oxford to begin his university eduaction. During the war he became a second lieutenant.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

EDWARD P.

By WALTER and LEONARD TOWNSEND.

AS HAD been the case at Dartmouth, the Prince experienced those same misgivings that he might prove inferior when compared with his colleagues.

PRINCE OF WALES

Edward did not expect to prove himself a formidable champion in athletic achievements, or to elevate himself to such a pinnacle of knowledge and learning that his fellow undergraduates would seem dull and backward in comparison. He had no especial wish to shine in anything—all he wished to do was his duty.

Because of his complete absence of conceit his classmates voted him a "good chap." Indeed, after the novelty of having the Prince of Wales amongst them had worn off, his contemporaries neither went out of their way to converse with him nor shrunk from chaffing him if opportunity occurred. He was one of them.

Life at Oxford was pleasant. This mixing with all types of men was bringing about a remarkable change in the Prince's outlook.

There was a great danger that the Prince, in his earnest desire to be "one of the crowd" might please a certain section of His Majesty's subjects, yet might, from the viewpoint of the great colonies, and even other European countries, belittle the dignity of the Crown. But the Prince kept in mind the fact that the duty of Princes in constitutional countries is not to force upon the people a dominant or outstanding character but to retain all the sacredness of historic traditions and to show the world an attractive, amiable personality which is able to keep pace with changing social conditions and appreciate their significance.

The public school spirit so manifest in the youthful Prince of Wales did not rob Edward of his individuality. He possessed two entirely different sides—one the almost casual self-unconsciousness of the ordinary undergraduate, and the other when he was surprised by some fellow undergrad enjoying his own company; on such occasions proving the same thoughtful, rather wistful boy as he was when home ties were first broken at Osborne.

Visits Germany

Actual contact with men whose portraits, sayings and deeds are chronicled the world over, has not made the Prince cynical. He is as fresh and enthusiastic in his appreciation of really great men as any commoner, and of inventors and explorers is not above hero-worship. Signor Marconi's first wireless experiments greatly interested him as well as Claude Graham White's experiments in flying. No one was a keener admirer of that early hydroplane which this pioneer airman experimented with at Cowes in 1912, and when White circled round the Solent at night time, with his aircraft illuminated in outline by myriads of electric globes, the Prince dearly wished to try a flight. But his father could not allow him.

Apart from a few public ceremonies in which the Prince took part, his studies at Oxford were not unduly disturbed until the early Spring of 1913. Then, in order to further broaden his education by travel, it was deemed advisable that he should again visit the continent.

Again as the Earl of Chester he visited the great industrial centers of Coblenz, Dusseldorf, Heidelberg, Stuttgart and Darmstadt. The prime reason for his visit was that he might improve his knowledge of the language, and to this end Professor Fiedler, professor of German at Oxford, accompanied him. During his stay many of the beauty spots of Germany were visited.

At Stuttgart he was the guest of the King of Wurttemberg at Wilhelm Palace for some days. He spent many enjoyable hours riding through the Black Forest, attending at the Court theater and making himself conversant with the surrounding district. On one occasion he journeyed to Canstatt drill-ground in order to witness the arrival of an airship which was being tested for duration flight. Although the Zeppelin was delayed the Prince was greatly interested in the masses of soldiery who were at the time being paraded.

Start of War

The Kaiser gave instructions that the son of his Royal English cousin should be taken to Friedrichshafter to inspect the airship works there. The Prince was received and greeted by Count Zeppelin who conducted his guest through the building yards and the motor manufactory. It was even arranged that the Prince should take a flight in Z-4, the latest war Zeppelin which had just been constructed. The weather was not suitable for flying and the flight did not take place. The Prince, however, had the privilege of witnessing a war Zeppelin leave its moorings and take the air.

A few weeks later, when in England and camped at Mychett Lake with the members of the Oxford University Officers' Training Corps he drove over to Farnborough and was allowed a half hour cruise in the airship Beta.

He visited the Fatherland again in July, and stayed at Berlin, Dresden, Liepzig and Prague, his hosts being from time to time the German Emperor, the King of Wurttemberg, the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg.

Returning to London, the Prince continued his studies at Oxford where he was to stay a second year. But that second year had scarcely run its course before the German hordes were pouring shot and shell into the brave heart of Belgium!

There were occasions when the young Prince came to the conclusion that it was his title that kept him in England. Was he ever to cross the Channel, or was he, by one excuse or another, to be kept prisoner at home? The answer to these perplexing questions was not long delayed for in November 1914, the Prince received the welcome news that he was fit for France! But en route for France news reached him that

PASSENGER KILLED NEAR DEDICATION SCENE

This pictur shows the civic parade leaving the Ohio side of the new span connecting Steubenville with Weirton, W. Va. A few minutes before the procession moved an airplane, taking part in the dedication yesterday, crashed within a few hundred yards of the structure, killing L. W. ## SCARFACE AL LINKED IN GANG MURDER PROBE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—A grand jury's investigation of bootlegging gangster slayings and quick fortunes in Philadelphia today involved Scarface Al Capone, of Chicago.

Capone was named by the prosecutor as an ally of Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, wealthy sportsman and fight manager, charged by the prosecutor with being the leader of an alcohol ring and with directing attempts to intimidate witnesses, remained under subpena.

Louis R. Elfman, former chauffeur for Hoff, before the grand jury yesterday linked Hoff with the rum ring and asserted that he had been beaten by Sailor Freedman, former Chicago prize fighter, and threatened with death if he testified against his former employer. A warrant has been issued for Freedman's arrest.

"GOING TO OPEN UP"

Elfman's disclosures, District Attorney John Monaghan said, show that Hoff has a close alliance with the notorious "Scarface" Al Capone, of Chicago, and had been instrumental in bringing to Philadelphia gunmen from Chicago to intimidate witnesses in the investigation.

After a long session with the grand jury, Elfman sat in the district attorney's office while the prosecutor said to newspaper men, "We are going to open up on these murderers and bootleggers."

"This man has had the courage to tell the truth about the rotten conditions, and at the risk of his life. He was a respectable electrician with a nice wife and two children. Seven years ago he met Max Hoff. He did some electrical work for him.

"Then this bootlegger and employer of gunmen tempted him with big wages. He employed him as a trailer for alcohol trucks from one place to another. On the first trip, Hoff accompanied him. They both had guns, supplied by Hoff. They went to the Consolidated Ethyl Alchohol Company. A load of alcohol was obtained and he and Hoff trailed it to a freight station where Hoff superintended loading it into a car. Elfman was used to trail trucks of alcohol and did this 400 or 500 times.

"Eighteen months ago Elfman decided to go straight and quit. Soon after we served him with a subpena to appear before the grand jury he was met on the street by Sailor Freedman, a notorious character. He was beaten up and his life threatened.

Elfman also disclosed that the notorious Al Capone was in this city and lavishly entertained by Hoff. Elfman was present and met him. I want all Philadelphia to know this. I want every one to know that Hoff and his gang have brought on Chicago gunmen to threaten and intimidate witnesses who may be called.

"Elfman is going to get day and night protection from now on; there is going to be no bumping off so far as he is concerned."

HURT IN CRASH, ASKS $25,000

Alleging that the defendant was under the influence of liquor when his car collided with theirs, James F. Kennedy and his wife Dorothy E. Kennedy have brought suit against Roy E. Blakely of Veto street in common Pleas Court for $25,000 damages for personal injuries to Mrs. Kennedy. It is averred that on September 4, 1927, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, who live in the East End, were on their way to Pittsburgh, when, near Bakerstown Blakely collided with the plaintiffs' car. Mrs. Kennedy suffered a broken arm and was otherwise hurt, it is set forth.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

NEXT to selling lighthouses we always had a notion selling cemetery lots was the toughest job in the world, but a cemetery lot salesman confides that business is brisk and customers plentiful, attentive and in a receptive mood. He makes, he reports, about $5,000 a year working only 10 months a year. He does house to house canvassing and as July and August see a great many people on their vacation he does little soliciting in these two months. He finds Monday is the best day for sales. He finds women his best customers.

This salesman, being a young man in the full vigor of health, speaks of certain death as casually as another man might speak of going to the barber shop.

He can get more enthusiastic about one's ultimate end than can the most practical of morticians. Better even than the real estate man, who speaks glibly of the five-minute walk from the car line to one's little nest in Suburbia, can the cemetery lot salesman enthuse over a nice grave.

IT SEEMS here, after listening to his grave sales talk, that here is a character who has been overlooked by the boys who write plays. As a minor character in a homey comedy the cemetery lot salesman would produce at least four or five good situations. When we come to write the great American drama there will be one cemetery lot salesman in the cast, provided no one has ever introduced him before, or no one steals him away from us.

We might add, and you must believe it, he picks up a little side money in his vacation months by tending bar. As strange a combination as you've heard of, if you dismiss the man who sells wigs and hair restorer.

IN PITTSBURGH where the climate is somewhat changeable, where today's sunshine may suddenly develop into a cold rain, you don't run across the pleasant little styles of attire that you note in reading journals of other towns. We note with some interest, for instance, the item clipped from a North Carolina paper which reads: "The bride's only garment was a pearl pin of her mother's." And in a Los Angeles paper the following style note reflects the benefits of the balmy air of celebrated California: "For evening wear a large chiffon handkerchief is carried in the hand."

We also beg to report a circumstance out of the ordinary in a New Jersey town, duly recorded in a paper of that state: "The announcement of the marriage of Jacob Zimmerer, of East Passaic avenue, and Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmerer, wife of Mr. Zimmerer's second cousin, came as a complete surprise to members of both families." The surprise to the members of these two families likely was as nothing compared to the jolt suffered by Mr. Zimmerer's second cousin upon reading the announcement.

AND around town they are telling of the little Chicago boy who killed his mother and father so he could attend the orphans' picnic.

LINDY'S PLANE IN RUINS, TWO DEAD

SIGHTED IN ALLEGHENY MOUNTAINS

The Lindbergh-owned biplane (above), in which Pilots M. M. Merrill, manager of Curtiss Field, New York, and Edwin Ronne had been lost, was sighted last night—in ruins! Searching aviators reported they had seen the wreckage of the ship owned by Col. Lindbergh in the dense Allegheny Mountains near Port Jervis, N. Y., and it is was presumed the bodies of Merrill and Ronne were in the ruins. The rescue planes were unable to land near the scene of the wreck. However, so certain were the rescuers of the identification of the plane borrowed by Merrill (below) that his wife (below) was notified.

Dynamite Planted in Theater

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—Twelve sticks of dynamite were found last night in the Parthenon Theater of suburban Berwyn. A large audience was in the theater when the discovery was made.

Earlier in the day a black powder bomb blasted a hole in the wall of the theater. Several months ago a bomb was exploded in the same building.

The dynamite, found by police last night as they investigated the earlier bombing of the day, was sufficient, they said, to have wrecked the entire Berwyn business district.

FREE COMEDIAN IN MIX BRAWL

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—Will Morrissey, stage comedian, was free today of a charge of drunkenness filed against him after an alleged fight with Tom Mix, western star of the films.

Morrissey, previously convicted of the charge, appeared in court yesterday, obtained a new trial and moved for a dismissal on the grounds that the complaint accused him of being intoxicated on a street of Venice, a suburb, while the testimony related to his condition in the Venice police station. The motion was granted.

Drunkenness charges against Morrissey's wife, Midgie Miller, previously were dismissed on the same grounds.

Trial of Mix on battery charges brought by the Morrisseys was set for tomorrow.

TURTLE CREEK WOMAN INJURED IN AUTO SPILL

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mathilda Daughdenbaugh, 42, of Turtle Creek, was cut severely by flying glass when a tire of the car in which she was riding with her husband, J. S. Daughdenbaugh, and her daughter, blew out on the William Penn highway near here last night. Mrs. Daughdenbaugh was brought to a hospital here. The others in the car, which swerved into a ditch, escaped unhurt.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR OWN "TRAFFIC COP?"

RECOGNIZE HIM?

Honestly, now, if you were asked, could you tell the name of the traffic patrolman on your corner, the one who speaks to you when you pass by? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, if you can't, will help you a bit. Each day there is published the photograph of one of the city's traffic officers. Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

YESTERDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS GEORGE V. MURRAY, STATIONED AT SIXTH AND ROSS STREETS. HE IS MARRIED, LIVES AT 1118 FAIRDALE STREET AND HAS BEEN AT THE SAME CORNER FOR THE LAST THREE YEARS AND SIX MONTHS.

Will Rogers Says

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 30.

This Kellogg peace treaty—a lot of folks don't seem to be enthusiastic about it.

But it is based on a great idea, and if he does get away with it he deserves a lot of credit.

I have a scheme for stopping war. It's this: No nation is allowed to enter a war till they have paid for the last one.

This, as you remember, was to be a very economical campaign, but on account of the Democrats having something to offer besides speeches, a voter is going to be able to accept some competitive bidding for the first time in years.

Yours, WILL.

The Prince of Wales
His Story

he had been appointed aide-de-camp to Sir John French at General Headquarters and that he was not destined to join his regiment in the firing line as he had hoped.

Determination Unavailing

During those early days of the war he grew tired of asking the authorities to forget his title and allow him the privileges and responsibilities of every other Englishman.

The authorities, however, were on the horns of dilemma, whatever the private wishes of the Prince, no unnecessary risk could be taken with the life of the Heir-Apparent to the throne of Great Britain. Certainly, as the Prince himself had pointed out, there were four brothers to follow him, but it had to be taken into account that should any harm befall the young Prince, the first to ask why his life had not been more strictly safe-guarded would be the people themselves.

Then, too, there was the added risk that the Prince might be taken a prisoner of war in France. The result on the morale of the British troops if the Prince of Wales had been in the enemy's hands, would have been disastrous.

The Prince realized from the very outset that his movements were keenly watched. He was given important work, but it kept him well behind the firing line, and he was not hoodwinked by the motive.

Some typical stories of H. R. H.'s determination to be just an ordinary staff officer during his days in France are told. One afternoon Lieut.. Edward of Wales was found to be missing. Uneasiness turned to dismay for the Prince was found to have borrowed a motorcycle from a dispatch rider and to have ridden off in the direction of the front line. At once staff officers roared off in powerful cars to overtake the truant and a wild chase over the various sectors commenced.

Night had fallen when one of the Staff cars, seeing a light beside the road, stopped to ask if the Prince had been seen to pass that way. They discovered the Prince covered from head to foot in mud sitting playing cards with a party of French poilus in the light of a candle. Nearby the motorcycle was hopelessly wrecked. The Prince had struck a shellhole and gone "Over the top."

The Prince of Wales was not unduly headstrong nor did he regard his position lightly. There must, of necessity, be placed some restriction upon his activities, but he considered, that he could "do his bit' in active warfare without exposing himself to undue risk. On the other hand, it must be admitted that the Prince did not realize, to the extent that the Senior Officers did, the nature of his standing as a prince of a constitutional country.

Influence of Presence

The Prince of Wales was warmly welcomed when he made his first appearance in France, for it was felt that even though he may never experience the discomforts of the trenches, his presence over there did incalculable good in influencing and maintaining the high morale of the troops. His action, too, had a direct influence upon recruiting at home.

The unexpectedness with which he arrived at General Headquarters is amusingly portrayed in the following story. He was standing one day near a company of infantry waiting to go up the line wearing a new khaki uniform and very light colored puttees when an "old Sweat" nearby, looking at H. R. H. and thinking him a new officer "just out," remarked to his pal:

"He's a nice looking young chap and I bet he can sing all right!"

The slender legs of the Prince and his canary-colored puttees were no doubt responsible for this humorous remark.

In November, 1914, the whole of the British Army went into mourning when Lord Roberts, as a result of a chill contracted whilst carrying out his duties in France, died. The Prince at that time on leave in England at once crossed over to France in order to pay a last token of respect to the gallant soldier by accompanying the coffin from France back to England.

When the Prince of Wales paid a surprise visit to Rouen in December, 1914, he was received by the cavalrymen who were stationed there at the time in no half-hearted manner. During his three days' stay at Rouen he inspected the arrangements which had been made at the station for tending the wounded soldiers, and stayed and chatted with many of the injured, showing a keen, sympathetic interest in their welfare by his questions concerning their private affairs.

The war had been in progress nearly two years when the Prince earned a promotion to a Captaincy. In the meantime he had witnessed a great deal of the activities at the Front, visiting the danger zone on several occasions.

On one occasion the Prince left his car for a short while in order to carry out some duty with which he had been entrusted, and, on returning, he found in place of the automobile in which he had been riding such a little time before, a mass of wreckage—the result of a German shell—his chauffeur, who had been with him since his days at Oxford, had been completely blown to pieces. H. R. H. himself delved in what was left of his clothing and wrapped in his own handkerchiefs the man's personal effects which on his return to England he conveyed in person to his chauffeur's relatives.

"SO I SOCKED HIM IN THE JAW... he hired me to do it!"

She was funny in "The Fair Co-Ed," but wait 'till you see her now!

In "The Patsy" she was a delight, but watch her do her stuff in this one!

IMAGINE her embarrassment. He was trying to escape from a vamp and hired her to pose as his fiancee. He told her to sock him if he didn't obey her. And when she did it, Surprise! Surprise! As a Broadway stage hit this was good, but on the screen it's absolutely too good to be missed by any man, woman or child.

Marion Davies, you're a scream. You're a riot. You gave your public many a big, hearty laugh in "The Fair Co-ed" and "The Patsy," but this is absolutely the howlingest funny picture that ever came to chase the blues away with laughs, laughs, laughs!

Alan Lunches With Fluff But Neglects to Tell Ione About It

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ione Farr, just out of high school, gets a position with Max Weimar, a music publishing house in New York. Her chum, Marie Karey, is engaged to Palmer Elliott, a young lawyer, whom she later marries. She is always holding up as a model Ione's married sister, Jenepher, who has a small son and also holds a fine position in a smart New York shop. Benz, Weimer's office manager, takes Ione to Tin Pan Alley, where she meets the famous song writer, Wolfie Speed. Ione falls in love with Alan Blake, an accompanist, and they plan to be married as soon as Blake can support her. She is inclined to be jealous of Fluff Harwick, a new girl in the office. She feels that Jenepher is proving that a wife cannot hold down a job and run a household and do both successfully. She tries to be nice to Fluff, but the latter repulses her and she has her first quarrel with Blake on account of her. At Marie's house for dinner they learn all about a 50-50 marriage. Benz makes further plans to advance Ione. He tells her jobs are not handed out through friendship but ability. Alan is made branch manager for his firm and gets a raise. He urges Ione to marry him at once. Ione insists, however, on giving her employer notice and the day is set for the wedding. Alan arrives and finds Ione in her bridal attire awaiting him. After the wedding they visit Alan's folks. The following week they return to the city and hunt for an apartment. Their first meal at home is very pleasant. Fluff Harwick is made Alan's secretary, but Ione tries not to be a suspicious wife. In order to keep within her budget, she tries laundering. Alan surprises her at the tubs and objects vigorously to her working. She prepares to celebrate her birthday. Blake tries to borrow some of the household money from her, but she has none left. He finds himself kept late at the office with Fluff Harwick. He goes to Fluff's studio for pancakes. Meanwhile Ione fears she is becoming a drag on her husband.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"THERE, let's laugh—both together now!" I'll get along fine, you funny kid, and don't you worry one bit. Yessir, you just watch your friend husband."

At least he had carfare. Probably could borrow a dollar somewhere; the fellows always were doing it. He grinned.

Work kept him late at his desk; when he could get away finally there was no one in the studios, no one in either office but Fluff Harwick, watching him with her kitten eyes.

He sent her away and said he was staying in. "Won't hurt me for once," he thought.

But he was a healthy young animal; he got hungry when he went without food and hunger made him irritable. He began to feel sorry for himself toward evening. By Friday he was stubborn; he didn't try to borrow.

And Fluff's big, shallow eyes kept following him and there was a knowingness in the way she jerked her head.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

THE pink and yellow Miss Hartwick crept timidly to his desk after a time.

"Oh, Mr. Blake! You'd never, never guess what I'm wondering! Oh, dear, I'm just crazy to know if you like pancakes."

At that moment a dish of pancakes seemed to him as beautiful and desirable as the pot of gold at the rainbow's end, and about as attainable.

He laughed and said, "You bet."

"Oo-oo! Now ain't that just too killing! 'Cause Ise going right home and make some. I is, and you just wouldn't believe how good they'll be. I've a itsy-bitsy studio just a block over—wouldn't you care to come? Won't take a minute and I've got maple syrup too, I have!"

Maple syrup! Alan grabbed his hat and grabbed her arm. "If you're kidding me I'll kill you!" he chattered wildly. "Lead me to the pancakes!"

She gurgled and purred and took him to a grimy old house west of Eight avenue. He was a bit disheartened at sight of her "studio"; it was up three flights and at the back where it commanded a sweeping view of ash cans and clothes lines. A dingy room with odds and ends of frayed furniture; photographs stuck all around; a great lot of soiled cretonne chairs that sagged in the seats. And a big bunch of paper flowers on the mantel.

It was like a thousand other furnished rooms in the district, pathetic and depressing; haunts of folk unwilling to live out of range of the white lights and unable to pay for air, light and space.

She apologized plaintively for her "nest. "Ise just a itsy sparrow-bird, all alone. Sit in the easy chair, big mans—I'll hurry. Now let's see—dear me, oh dear me, Ise such a feather-head!"

He watched her take a screen from around a gas-plate and put dishes on a table. Darting and child-like in her movements; all excited, he thought; a good-hearted little thing.

A girl like that needed someone to look out for her he reflected.

grinning at her chirping—"Oh dear—oh, dear me!" She made so many useless motions and seemed so confused by the simple task of frying a few pancakes. So different from the quiet mannered Ione.

He wondered, idly, if he'd better tell Ione about this. Trivial as it was, he felt she would not like it. Funny how women took fool dislikes to one another!

For the work of one who boasted of her helplessness the pancakes were singularly masterly. Golden brown, crisp edges, flaky centers, smoking hot—Alan cut into one and sighed with pleasure.

"And you want to pound a typewriter when you can do this! You'd have 'em sitting up and howling if you'd turn cook—sure I'll have more! Say, I never tasted anything so good."

"Oo-ooo, big mans! Guess maybe Ise just lucky today, poor itsy me. I adore to see you eat, 'deed I does. Now don't you move and Fluff'll make some more."

He needed no urging. With the delicious taste of the pancakes in his mouth, the catch line of a famous comic strip came into his mind. "She ain't so dumb." He wondered if her manner might be a pose.

But when she turned her wide, shallow eyes and her blank smile he decided there was no pose about her. Dumb all right—but a whizz of a cook!

And when he went back to work full of food and good nature, he had added a sincere admiration to the mild pity he felt for her before.

That was the afternoon Ione pulled her trunk out of the closet and began to go over her last summer's wardrobe. Wistfully, but without much hope. It was June now and she still wore the little green suit that had been so smart on her honeymoon. She'd taken the fur from the collar and wrist to make it summery. But it had lost its freshness for all her care. The elbows were wearing shiny.

There was a checked silk from last summer in the trunk. She might fix up that with new lace for the throat and sleeves. It would do for a while, but of course she couldn't expect to look stylish in it—she who had taken such rare delight in pretty, up-to-date things!

She'd need a coat of some sort. Not an expensive coat—why, she could get just what she'd like for twenty dollars!

She got her ledger and began to figure. Figures, more figures. It seemed to her she always was getting lost in vast mazes of figures. She discovered, finally, she might buy a twenty dollar coat in exactly fourteen months and three weeks!

That was when her heart broke. When the little, black head dropped over on the ledger and big salty tears blotted all down the pages and ran over to the bills. Summer coming and nothing new and Lanny looking at her sometimes as if he were puzzled. Wondering, no doubt, why she looked different from other girls. And too late to know it was only her clothes!

In a still despair she put on the green suit and the little green hat with the tinsel dagger through the front. And she took a dollar from the lean household supply and went to the nearest bus line and climbed up top to a seat.

"SAME OL' LOVE!"

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

HAVING no sort of clothes at all, Cupid stays much the same. "Just as in the Garden of Eden stay I!" quoths he. He has never become the slave of Fashion, in so far as even to wear a pocket handkerchief, so down through the aeons he comes, looking the same to us as he did to fair ladies of Greece, the Middle Ages, and on the fringed and puffed "settees" of Queen Victoria's young married life.

Yes, by gracious! here's the same fellow in modernistic surroundings.

Holding his hearts up and killing himself laughing. The same THING—for Love, poets agree, is a "thing' that both mars and makes you, makes and breaks you, is a pleasure and pain, is tears and laughter, "that makes a ONE of TWO," that hurts and heals, that "makes a tongueless man to woo," that same thing that is known to you now, was once, and will be a thousand thousands of years from now.

"Love bears within his breast the very germ of change," sang a skeptical gentleman, who surely knew a lot about it—Lord Byron. But another, named Shakespeare, who seemed most strangely and marvelously to know a lot about Love AND EVERYTHING ELSE, sang, "Love is not love which alters when it alteration finds." And that could be taken two ways.

No, the girl changes her frock before your eyes again and again in your lifetime even—but Love looks the same.

The tight little bodice and the "cul de Paris" skirt of the early seventies is very different—especially in the matter of knees—the freedom of the knees, eh?—from the frock of today. But the Cupid that lurks in the shrubbery is exactly the same fellow in both pictures.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WHEN A MAN DOES NOT "CHOOSE"

NOT so long ago, a man felt that he should offer an alibi for being unwed, after thirty. Somehow, he felt that persistent bachelorhood was a reflection on his charms or his income or his sex appeal, and must be defended or "explained."

His constant attitude was apologetic—the "excuse-it-please" attitude.

He would cautiously warn a woman that he was "not a marrying man," or sadly remind her that his heart was "in the grave," or that his duty was to his mother, or that he was wedded to his career. Or, if none of these worked, he would desperately cook up a "secret sorrow" as an alibi for his life of self-determination.

HELEN ROWLAND

But all that was in the mellow glamorous days of wing collars and high-cut waistcoats. Now men marry oftener and earlier than ever; but when one of them does manage to hold onto his liberty up to the middle thirties, he glories in his defiance!

* * *

When a modern man does not choose to marry, he simply states coldly, casually, but FINALLY, that he does not "CHOOSE" to marry. And that's THAT!

It's very illuminating! And it saves a girl a lot of time, effort and disappointment. Because you may entice or persuade a man who does not "want" to marry, or tip one who does not "intend" to marry—but what can you do with one who flatly does not "choose" to marry? You not only can't elect him—you can't even nominate him!

There is nothing to do but to let him "bach" it out, until he gets TIRED. It is useless to appeal to his "higher nature" or to try to convince him that it is his duty to his race and his country to sustain the "sacred home and family." It is not even much use to turn on the lure and appeal to his "lower nature" with petting and home cooking.

He will never marry! Never, NEVER—until some determined woman comes along and gets him so tangled up that he can't see where he is going, and he finds himself at the altar-rail!

An immovable misogynist always gives way, sooner or later, before the irresistible force of a woman in the marrying mood.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Eleanor Lincoln's Room Is Watched by Spies

HOW much of Eleanor Lincoln's room could be seen by the hidden watcher in the oak tree? This was the first terrifying question which came to me after I discovered that the moving glint of light upon the wall was caused by a curious conjunction of sunlight, a mirror in the room and field-glasses held by some unseen person high on the branches of a big oak tree on the lawn outside the house.

Turning away from the window I first sent a swift glance to the figure upon the bed, assuring myself that the young mistress of The Larches was still in the slumber induced by the opiate which the physician had prescribed. Then I made a careful survey of the room, noting that the bed was sufficiently near the large double open window fronting the oak tree to be visible through glasses to anyone high in its branches.

The end of my deductions left me with throat muscles constricted and shaken nerves. For I realized that the watcher in the treetop must have seen me bend over the sleeping girl with her necklace in my hand and must have witnessed my careful restoration of the bauble to the girl's clothing. I had no illusions concerning the hidden watcher.

Deep in my consciousness something clicked and a part of the puzzling mystery surrounding Eleanor Lincoln fell into a readable pattern. The carefully concealed paper with its cryptic writing I had extracted from the locket, copied and restored to its place again, was the reason for this man's espionage, and for his persecution of the girl by the imitation of owl hoots which had so terrified her.

I was sure of something else also, if he really had seen the miniature. He would be shrewd enough to guess that I had found out something concerning the mystery surrounding Eleanor Lincoln, and might turn a menacing inquisitiveness toward me.

The thought brought with it a wild fantastic terror, not for myself, but for my small son. Ever since the awful time when, just past his infancy, he was kidnaped by Grace Draper, and restored to me only by Hugh Grantland's infinite resourcefulness, any hint, however remote, of danger in the vicinity has given me a fright as real to me as it is absurd to others.

I must waste no time in sending a warning to the farmhouse. This was the first command which my terrified brain sent to my nerves. Compelling myself to slow, quiet movement when I was wild to dash from the room, I drew down the shade of the window through which the field glasses were trained. Then glancing once more at Eleanor Lincoln to be sure she was asleep, I slipped out and downstairs to the telephone. A moment later I was speaking to Lillian."

"Where is Junior?" I asked breathlessly.

"On the lawn playing, or at least he was a minute ago," she answered promptly, and added with the almost psychic comprehension of another's mood which is hers: "Shall I call him in?"

"Please," I returned, and waited in irrational suspense until I heard my small son's voice in a wondering, "What is it, mother?"

"I don't want you to go out of Aunt Lillian's or Aunt Katherine's sight until I get home," I said earnestly, and when he had given me his promise, I talked to Lillian again, repeating my wish and adding in a code signal of our own that there was danger near of which I could not yet tell her. Then I hurried upstairs again to find Eleanor Lincoln sitting bolt upright in bed, her hands clutching wildly at her throat, and her eyes filled with terror.

Basic Good Health Averts Minor Ills

A PUBLIC man, still in his youth, was found dead in his bed. A stomach ulcer had corroded a blood vessel, permitting quantities of blood to flow into the stomach. The poor man bled to death. Two or three years ago an American friend of mine died in London from the rupture of the intestines due to an ulcer. From similar causes these two acquaintances passed away within a few months of each other.

DR COPELAND

What can be done to avert so tragic a death?

If you ever had a canker sore you know how obstinate a thing it is. In spite of mouth washes, local applications and even a burning of the surface, it goes on and on, refusing to heal.

You can imagine how difficult it is to deal with a canker sore attacking the surface of the stomach, or the lining of the intestines. The walls of these organs are in constant motion during digestion. This prevents the healing processes from doing their work of repair.

The result is that the tiny sore spreads and grows deeper. It becomes an ulcer of consequence and, unless successfully dealt with, it may produce serious results. There are comparatively few cases which end so unfortunately as in the two cases I have mentioned. But whether small or large, any ulcer attacking the mucous lining of the body is uncomfortable and may prove serious. What can be done to prevent their development? Certainly prevention is more important than to wait until they have actually arrived.

Good health is the surest protection against evil effects from accidents. Most ulcers originate from trifling injuries—scratches from particles of food or foreign substances. Then there is an infection, the germs gaining entrance into the tissues through the broken tissues.

Sunlight, nourishing food and good habits will be everything. In the case of stomach and intestinal ulcers, constipation and intestinal fermentation are important factors. They must be overcome.

Good health and vigor are the surest guarantees against these ailments.

Horoscope

Friday, August 31.

THE stellar mutations for this day make for conflicting situations. While the finances seem to be fortified in a measure, and unexpected openings may present, yet the employment is in jeopardy. This untoward condition may be precipitated by rashness or tumultuous conduct, or there may be shafts of malice or duplicity. These should be safeguarded against and self-control under all circumstances held in mind.

Those whose birthday it is may fortify themselves against a year of malevolence or ill-will incited by tempestuous or rash conduct. There is also a menace of treachery and the employment is in jeopardy. But there may be some financial benefits and there may be unlooked-for change or opportunities.

A child born on this day should be given early discipline in self-control and moderation of behavior, else it may put its best interests in life in peril.

U. S. GOLFERS TRAIL

BRITONS IN FRONT IN CUP DUELS

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—The international golf matches started over a heavy course today with the two-ball foursomes. Heavy rains had slowed up the turf and shots at the start fell short of their goal.

The first drive of the Americans was far from brilliant, Jess Sweetser, the first man to fire a shot in defense of the Walker Cup, hooking the ball 30 yards short of the smashing tee shot of the British champion, T. P. Perkins, who, with Dr. William Tweddell, 1927 champion, opposed Sweetser and George Von Elm.

Von Elm got home with a good wood, but left Jess a 6-foot approach putt over undulating ground. He ran 10 feet to the left, while Perkins, after Tweddell's good iron to the 443-yard green, ran up close. Von Elm's putt bobbled the hole and all but stymied the British ball, which was lifted because it was less than six inches from the American pellett.

This gave the Britons the hole with a par 4, but they lost the second when Tweddell drove into a trap and then put the third into another pit, bringing a six to the Americans' par four.

Von Elm got down a 5-foot putt on the short third for a par 3 that made the Americans one up, when Tweddell over-approached and took four.

JONES-EVANS TRAIL

In the second foursome, Chick Evans and Bobby Jones, opposing Maj. C. O. Hezlet and W. L. Hope, started poorly. Chick outdrove Hezlet, but Bobby did not get home with his iron while Hope was just on the carpet. Chick pitched 10 feet short of the pin, while Hezlet's approach putt was six feet over. Jones missed the long one and stymied the British ball, so that the hole was halved in 5.

The Americans mussed up the second hole and lost with a 5 to the Britons' par 4, and lost the short third by taking 4. They halved the long fourth in par 5, but dropped the fifth to a birdie 3 to be 2 down.

Jimmy Johnston and Francis Ouimet followed suit and dropped the second and third holes to be two down to T. A. Torrance and Eustice Storey.

Von Elm and Sweetzer kept ahead of their foreign foes for two holes more, although they were lucky to get a half in sixon the long fourth. Both pairs then continued to stalemate each other with par for the next two holes, leaving the Americans still one up.

Jones and Evans halved the sixth hole handily in par with Hezlet and Hope, but Jones had to sink a long putt to share the 200-yard seventh in a mediocre four, both pairs having trouble in finding the green. This left the Americans three down.

GUNN-MACKENZIE WILD

The fourth American team started disastrously, Watts Gunn and Ronald MacKenzie losing the first three holes with a sad 7 on the first, owing to traps, a five on the par 4 second where the approach was short and a 4 on the short third where the Britons, John Beck and

KREMER TO FACE LEADERS IN FIRST

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

BILL M'KECHNIE and his Redbirds fluttered into Pittsburgh this morning all primed for a highly significant series with the Pirates. Leading the Buccos by six and one-half games the Cardinals are in a strategic position with the season entering the last month, but they are not "in" by any means.

The Cards will tangle with the Pirates three times in the impending series. Next week the Buccos will invade St. Louis for four fights. A preponderance of Pittsburgh triumphs in these seven fights would give the Redbirds a big scare, to say the least.

In any event the Bushwhackers (after dropping a rather foolish contest to the Phillies yesterday) will play out every string to take one, two or three games from the leaders in the last three days of the week.

KREMER TO HURL

Manager Bush will send Remy Kremer to Fogarty Knoll this afternoon in an effort to wrest victory in the opener. Skipper Bill is expected to counter with Grover Alexander or Jess Haines. Aleck has enjoyed considerable rest since his last encounter.

The Cards were rained out in Chicago yesterday, the showers stopping play in the first inning. Jess Haines was all warmed up for action and it may be that he will be saved for one of the other games of the series. However, both are available.

Manager Bush made an important announcement relative to Adam Comorosky and Lloyd Waner. Figuring the Polish Flyer to be ready for fast action in view of the new impression he has made here after his winning exploits in the A. A. race, Bush will insert Commy in the lineup and he will take care of the centerfield plot, Sprout the Younger going to leftfield.

The Pirates yesterday passed up a fine chance to gain on the Cardinals when they dropped their final clash with the Quakers in a bobtailed game that was pretty much a secret until the play started. The contest was called at the end of the seventh inning in order that the Phillies could board an early train for Boston, where they are scheduled to play today. The lowly Quakers won, 4 to 0, the setback being rather bitter for Bush and his players.

Ervin Brame and Claude Willoughby were paired against each other on the mound. The contest reached the fifth inning before anybody to get around the bases. In the fifth round the Phillies tallied four times.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

TEMPUS fugits and the football season is at hand again. The college squads are preparing with mingled hopes and misgivings to go into training for the new campaign. Coaches here and there are singing the blues, as is their wont. One almost can feel the tinge of autumn in the air.

FEW changes have been made in the gridiron code to confuse players and spectators this fall, which is a good thing for the game. The wording of the rules has been changed in some instances to clarify them, but the principal changes have to do with the passing game.

The screen forward pass has been limited in that ineligible players, which means the linemen exclusive of the ends, are not permitted to break through and go down the field to confound the defense.

The lateral pass rule has been changed so that the ball must be passed at least two yards to constitute such a pass. In the event of a fumble, the ball goes to the side recovering it, but no run is permitted. If it does not go two yards and becomes a loose ball, the side recovering it may run with the oval. Last year, any backward or lateral pass that struck the ground constituted a dead ball and remained in possession of the attacking side with only the loss of the down.

Another change in the rules this year is that any ball that strikes the goal posts or cross bar is a dead ball.

ONE of the toughest schedules of the coming season will be played by the Army eleven. Its games include six at home and four away. Notre Dame and Pop Warner's Leland Stanford elevens are to be played in New York, Yale at New Haven and Harvard at Cambridge. The home games are with Boston University, Southern Methodist, Providence College, De Pauw, Carleton College and Nebraska. Harvard and Yale are to be met on successive Saturdays in mid-season. The Stanford game concludes the season, December 1.

Yale will be watched with interest since Tad Jones has passed out of the picture as head coach, giving way to Mal Stevens, a former Eli star. There is a possibility that Johnny Hoben, star quarterback last year, will be unable to play because of a shoulder injury.

AT HOME, Carnegie Tech appears to have the most roseate prospects, with a more or less veteran team which will be captained by the brilliant Howard Harpster, quarterback. Pitt, with many veterans from last year's championship eleven missing, is on the anxious seat. Duquesne University, with Coach Elmer Layden in charge again, looks for a gradual development and considerably more progress than was made last year. Pitt will play all of its games at home except the battle with Nebraska, which is scheduled for Lincoln. Wash-Jeff's chances are problematical, although a better than fair season is naturally assured with such a fine coach as Andy Kerr on the job. Penn State is in a similar

GENE A WOW AT DINNER

LONDON, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—Lauding Gene Tunney's bearing at last night's dinner party given in his honor by Harry Preston, noted British sportsman, the Express refers to the former champion as "the embodiment of he-man decency."

Tunney scored one of the greatest knockouts of his life, the paper says, by gracefully hobnobbing with the literary celebrities and other notables attending the party.

In a toast to the guest of honor, Lord Decies called Gene a "great gentleman" and hoped he would have much success in "his chosen field of literature."

The young Marquis of Clydesdale followed with a brief speech and the former champion replied with graceful phrases of appreciation.

"I don't know why you make this fuss over me," Gene said. "What is boxing? The ability to co-ordinate mind and muscle at a critical moment, that is all.

"Yet you receive me with all this acclaim. If I had been a great painter I would have been met by a couple of long-haired men and short-haired women; had I been a famous literateur my welcome would have been left to posterity."

He denounced the "killer" type as a menace to boxing, declaring the only joy to be obtained in a fight is by facing a man of physical and intellectual equality.

Series Starting Here Today to Have Great Bearing on Pennant Race Outcome—Phils Blamed for Short Game—Is Barnhart to Go?—America Seeks Sixth Walker Cup Win.

THE three-game tussle between the warriors of Donie Bush and Bill McKechnie at Forbes Field today, tomorrow and Saturday will have a tremendous bearing upon the outcome of the National League's dizzy five-cornered pennant fight.

Frankie Frisch.

The Pirates have accomplished part of the hard pennant climb by practically overtaking the Giants, Cubs and Reds, and look good to beat out that trio, but the toughest portion of the contract is to break down the sizeable lead held by the Cardinals.

Whether or not they are to have any change of catching up with the Redbirds before the finish will depend largely upon what they do between now and Saturday evening. A year ago today they were only two and a half games from the top, but today they are six and a half box scores below first place.

IF THE Bucs succeed in trouncing the Cards as they trounced the Giants last week, they will be in a good position to complete the job of ousting them from first place later, but if the Redbirds manage to lengthen their lead while here it will be a severe blow to Pittsburgh's pennant prospects.

To each team success or failure in this series will mean much more than a rise or a drop in the percentage column. Club confidence and general morale will be helped or hurt to an extent that will count heavily for the winner and against the loser during the remainder of the race.

BEATING the Missourians in their present form will be a great deal harder than it was recently, when the Giants and Robins downed them five times in six successive games.

Frankie Frisch, who made 17 consecutive trips to the plate without making a hit against the Giants or Robins, and who did not steal a base in two months, is back in form; so is Jim Bottomley, one of the most dangerous hitters in the country, and besides, the coming of Ernest Orsatti has given the team additional punch, not to mention the improvement in the pitching of Jess Haines, Flint Rhem and others.

Clyde Barnhart.

THE calling of yesterday's game at 5 o'clock, when only seven innings had been played, to enable the Philadelphia club to catch a train for Boston, not only cost the Pirates any chance they might have had to win out in the two unplayed innings—and a victory would have put them in second place—but was unjust to the patrons who had paid to see a full game and who were entitled to a regulation contest for their money. Officials of the local club say that the Philadelphia club was at fault in not notifying the Pirate management in advance that it would be unable to play after 5 o'clock on account of having to catch an early train.

"WE KNEW nothing about it until the umpires announced it," said Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss. "We cannot keep track of every team's games or train schedules and should have been informed.

"If we had been notified arrangements would have been made to start the game at 3 o'clock instead of 3:30, so as to permit of the playing of a full contest."

MANAGER BUSH also was unaware until game time that play would be stopped at 5 o'clock.

"Just at playing time, Umpire Moran told me that he was going to call the game at 5 o'clock," said Donie. "'You'll do nothing of the kind,'" I replied. "'Then he informed me that the Philadelphia team would have to catch an early train

Jack Stewart Gets 32, but Loses Money

Talk about your tough luck. When a guy goes out and strokes a neat 32, only a couple of strokes off the world's record for nine holes, and then loses money, it's a hard dose to take—but Jack Stewart, professional at the Thornsburg Country Club, did that little thing the other day.

He was playing with Ben Thorpe, of his own club. Jack was was hitting every shot, and when he reached the eighth tee all he needed was 3, 4 for a world record 29—but he got nervous, and finished up 4, 5, taking a 32 on the par 35 layout. Thorpe was getting a stroke a hole and shot a 39—and collected. Jack had three birdies, an eagle and two holes over par.

Stewart's card, with par:

Par ....4 5 4 4 4 3 4 3 4—35
Stewart..3 5 3 2 4 3 3 4 5—32

The course record is 31, set by Stewart two years ago.

CHILLY SAUCE BY CHILLY DOYLE

THE spirit of "Open covenants openly arrived at" was violated by the secret diplomacy put over at Forbes Field yesterday. Among the casualties were the members of the Pittsburgh ball club, who did not know of the plan to stop play at 5 o'clock until the umpires came on the field and informed Manager Bush of the anticipated move.

The Quakers, it seems, stood on their constitutional rights and had the game called at the appointed hour, which shows that the baseball constitution gives the common people a deal like they get from the Eighteenth Amendment. It appears that the Braves are scheduled to play in Boston today and the only way they could reach Boston for their "crucial series" was to board the train at six bells.

LIKE the disconsolate prisoner in jail, the Quakers should not even ask the time because they "ain't goin' no place." The idea of interfering with the Pirates' flag chances with procedure that expedites the race for the cellar berth is too ridiculous for words—and then there was the angle of the patrons coming to the game with the expectation of seeing nine innings of baseball.

Yes, sir—there's one for Mr. Heydler's book of quaint happenings. It would have been very easy to have booked a double-header between the Quakers and Braves in Boston, thereby giving the Pirates the whole day for winning the contest, provided they tied it up and needed 20 innings. The series between the Braves and Phillies will not cause any riots in Boston. Indeed the Boston owners will feel a bit relieved if they take in enough cash to pay off the ushers, groundkeeper and night watchman. Well, it's a fine big-league idea, isn't it?

ACCORDING to the Pittsburgh officials the humble Quaker folks neglected to tell them they were to leave town early until just a few minutes before the game started. Perhaps somebody should have checked up on this end, but it would seem that the specific article of the baseball laws relative to calling games should be amended to the extent of making it incumbent upon the club asking the favor to put in its notice at least 24 hours ahead of time. Such a rule would give the officials time to advertise an earlier start of play in order to get nine innings run off.

Well, anyhow, the lowly Phils appear to have pulled a fast one. But if the Buccos tame those wild Redbirds this afternoon the folks who were disappointed yesterday may not feel so bad over their unfair experience.

FARRELL BOWS TO SIR WALTER

DETROIT, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—The veteran Walter Hagen, holder of the British open cup, defeated Johnny Farrell, youthful American open champion, 1 up, at the Western Golf and Country Club yesterday in the first of their three 36-hole "world championship" matches.

Their other two matches to unofficially decide the golf supremacy of the world will be played in New York and Chicago.

Going into the last nine 1 down, the British open champion staged a typical Hagen finish, squaring the match on the twenty-eighth hole and going into the lead with a birdie 3 on the thirtieth hole.

Club Plans Hard Season

By TOM BIRKS.

HEIDELBERG, national amateur champions 1927 and Western Pennsylvania and American League champions 1928, will be back fighting for another national crown this season under the leadership of Manager Ernest Balsarini. This was decided Tuesday when, after conflicting reports regarding the efforts of insurgents trying to undermine the Heidelberg team had been heard, a big mass meeting was held and a vote of confidence given to Balsarini, together with the assurance that the ex-national title holders will be back on the grid this season.

It was apparent that an element was after Balsarini's scalp at the latter end of the 1927 season. The Heidelberg team, with Balsarini as manager, it has won every title possible for a local aggregation to win with the exception of the national open title which really is for professional outfits.

Heidelberg, the most famous amateur organization in the United States, was organized in 1922. Since that time it has won the Dispatch Cup, the Keystone League title twice, est Penn championship twice, the American League once and went into the semi-final round in its first year in the National Amateur cup, and into the final the second year and won it in the third attempt. Last season, the team lost in the semi-final to Cleveland.

During the summer efforts to remove Balsarini have been made for a time it looked as if the moves were to be successful. Balsarini, happy-go-lucky, and one of the most popular managers in America took it all in good nature, but his friends induced him to fight back for the club he piloted to every championship an amateur aggregation could win.

Of course it had been due to the efforts of stalarts like Andy Savage, Bill O'Donnell, Joe Fagan, Stenzel and Mark Courtley who have done the fighting on the playing field, but the silent mentor, from the little Carnegie suburb had been tireless in his efforts for the Green and Gold aggregation, but now after a tough fight against an outfit playing politics the team will be back in the soccer limelight again this season.

YANKS REACH SEMI-FINALS

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 30.—(AP.)—Two pairs of young American tennis players survived the third-round play in the national doubles championship yesterday at the Longwood Cricket Club courts, to stave off an all-foreign final for the title which Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter were unable to defend.

The youthful homebreds gained their way into the semi-finals at the expense of two Australian teams. George M. Lott, Jr., and John Hennessey, the American Davis Cup players, overcame Harry Hopman and Jack Crawford in four sets, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison eliminated R. O. Cummings and E. F. Moon, another Anzac pair, 5-7, 6-2, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

The semi-final round today finds Lott and Hennessey opposing Cochet and Brugnon and Van Ryn and Allison trying to keep Patterson and Hawkes out of the title bracket.

for Boston and that it was its privilege to demand that play cease at 5 o'clock.

"As the rules give the visiting club such a right, when an early train must be caught, I could do nothing but consent."

IS ANOTHER of Pittsburgh's world champions of 1925 to pass out? The finger of fate now points to outfielder Clyde Barnhart, according to rumor. From Kansas City, where the Indianapolis American Association club was visiting yesterday, a report was received last night to the effect that as soon as waivers could be obtained the Pittsburgh club would send Barnhart to the Hoosiers to replace Adam Comorosky. Pirate officials denied that such arrangements had been completed and said that Barnhart will not be sent to Indianapolis or anywhere else for the present. No statement was made as to what may happen later. Barnhart is the oldest member of the Pittsburgh club in point of continuous service, as he has been a Pirate since September 22, 1920, following a season in Birmingham. Pie Traynor made his bow here on September 15, 1920, but was sent to Birmingham for seasoning and did not appear in the Corsair lineup again until September 1, 1921.

Bobby Jones.

THE United States is after its sixth straight triumph in the Walker Cup international golf matches with Great Britain which will be played at the Chicago Golf Club today and tomorrow. The contests were inaugurated in 1921 and this will be the third series in America, one of the others having been staged at Hoylake, England, and two at St. Andrews.

LED by Bobby Jones, the American forces appear too strong for the invaders, who are captained by Dr. William Tweddell, the British amateur champion of last year. Four two-ball foursomes are listed for today and eight single matches for tomorrow.

Jones' team includes Jess Sweetser, George Von Elm, Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Watts Gunn, Roland McKenzie and Harrison Johnston, with Maurice McCarthy, Jr., and Gene Homans as alternates.

The British team includes, besides Dr. Tweddell, T. Philip Perkins, Maj. C. O. Hezlet, T. A. Torrance, Eustance Storey, Dr. A. R. MacCallum, John B. Beck, Capt. J. N. C. Martin, R. H. Hardman and W. L. Hope.

Connie Mack.

LIKE the Pirates, the Athletics, now only 2½ games behind the Yanks, will have to finish their pennant fight on the road. The Mackmen have only three more games to play at home, those being scheduled for today, tomorrow and Saturday with the Redsox.

Connie Mack's big chance will come in a four-game series with the Yankees in New York. The clubs will play a double-header on Sunday, September 9, remain idle on the following day, and meet in single games on September 11 and 12. The coming engagements have aroused as much interest as a world series in New York, and already the 35,000 reserved seats at the Yankee Stadium have been sold out, leaving only 30,000 general admission tickets for public sale.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Cleveland—K. O. Christner won on a foul over Joe Sekyra, 2 rounds; Jack McTiernan defeated Eddie Savage, 4 rounds.

SCHENLEY OVAL HORSE WINS AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 30.—Straight heat victories featured the opening day's harness racing at the Washington County Fair here yesterday.

Great Atlantic, in the 2:17 trot; Lord Scott, in the 2:12 peace, and Pete Axworthy, in the 2:24 trot, were the winners of the day. Great Atlantic is a Schenley Oval horse and displayed fine form.

position; it may have a great season or only an ordinarily successful one. West Virginia is hoping for a better record than that which was compiled last year.

Notre Dame, suffering the loss of Christy Flanagan, Elmer Wynne and Dahman from the backfield and John Smith, the All-American guard, from the line, has some big holes to plug, and reports are that the reserve corps of Knute Rockne will not be as strong as in past seasons, and the Notre Dame system thrives on a lot of talent—frequently enough to permit three or four complete changes in a game.

CHALK up another notable victory for Mickey Walker, the middleweight champion, in his seven-round knockout triumph over Armand Emanuel, the Coast light-heavyweight star, at Los Angeles the other night. Mickey is considerable of a mystery. Unable to beat Pete Latzo or Joe Dundee as a welterweight, he is finding the big fellows comparatively easy to defeat. He knocked out Mike McTigue in a hurry, and now he takes the measure of Emanuel, who recently made a good showing in a bout with Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight champion, in New York.

John McGraw Confined To Bed

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, is confined to his bed after contracting a case of the grippe at Ebbets Field Sunday. Roger Bresnahan will be in charge of the team until McGraw returns. The Giant manager was not on hand to see the Boston Braves win the three-game series from the New York team.

BUCS' STAND FEATURES EAST-WEST SERIES

Pirates Set Dizzy Pace

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—(AP.)—The brilliant home stand of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the downfall of the Yankees in their own territory provided the highlights of the fifth general intersectional series in the major leagues, which ended yesterday.

Winning 13 games and losing only five, the Pirates led the Western clubs to an overwhelming triumph over the Eastern invaders. The Westerners scored 37 victories while the Eastern clubs won but 20 games. The Cardinals, winning six games and losing the same number, had the worst record of the home clubs, while not one of the invaders won as many games as they lost.

In the American League the Eastern clubs, playing on their home grounds, outscored the Westerners by the narrow margin of three games, winning 31 and losing 28. The failure of the Yankess to live up to their previous record was mainly responsible. The Yanks won seven games and dropped six at the Stadium. In two previous home stands, the New Yorkers had won 24 games and lost seven. Among the invaders, the St. Louis Browns had the best record, winning nine and losing five. The Athletics again made the best showing among the Eastern clubs, with 11 victories and five defeats.

WALKER CUP

Dr. A. R. Macallum shot perfect golf, except for a 5 on the first hole.

Ouimet and Johnston got all tangled up on the 540-yard fourth and took 7 to be 3 down to Torrance and Storey, but they won the fifth with a par 5 and cut their disadvantage to 2 down.

Von Elm and Sweetser reached the first turn 2 up by winning the eighth hole in par and halving the ninth in one over. This American pair was out in 38, 3 over par, while their British opponents took 41.

Jones and Evans shared the eighth hole in par 4, leaving them still 3 down. It was Hezlet's 25-foot putt on the 317-yard fifth that scored the only birdie thus far recorded.

Ouimet and Johnstown squared their match with Torrance and Storey by snatching the sixth and seventh with pars, while the Britons took one more on each hole.

Jones and Evans won the ninth hole in par and turned into the second nine 2 down, having used 39 strokes for the out trip, while Hezlet and Hope needed only 37.

YANKEES RALLY

Jones and Evans won the short tenth with a par 3 to cut Hezlet and Hope's lead to one up as Hope's tee shot was in a trap and they took 4.

Gunn and Mackenzie dropped the fourth hole to a par 5, making it a straight run of four wins for the Britons and putting the Americans 4 down. The Britons, Beck and McCallum, however, could do no better than halve the fifth in par 4.

Ouimet and Johnston, after squaring the match with three straight wins, dropped the ninth to a par 4 aftering sharing the eighth in a demiocre 5 and were one down. Thed had used up 42 strokes to the turn, while Torrance and Storey needed 41.

Gunn and Mackenzie finally won a hole at the short seventh with a par 3 after dropping four straight and then halving two in par, making them 3 down to Beck and MacCallum.

Von Elm and Sweetser won the tenth with a par 3 and halves the next three holes in perfect figures to be 3 up on Perkins and Tweddall.

Jones and Evans finally squared thier match with Hezlet and Hope by taking the short 13th with a par 3, the Britons taking 3 putts.

Gunn and Mackenzie dropped the eigth with a 5 to be four down again but turned 3 down by taking the ninth with a par 4. The Americans had frittered away 43 strokes to the turn while Beck and MacCallum used 38.

Von Elm and Sweetser increased their lead to five up by winning the fourteenth and fifthteenth with pars, while Tweddell and Perkins took one more on each hole.

Quimet and Johnston squared their match with Torrance and Storey a second time by winning the twelveth and kept square by halving the short thirteenth in par.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Follansbee Co. Rumors Denied—Prosperity Compared With That of Last Year's Record.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

NO PLANS are being made for the recapitalization of the Follansbee Brothers Company. No merger negotiations are under consideration. This was announced by officials following the circulation of rumors on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Production of sheets and tinplate at capacity for the past two months was responsible for the increase in the common dividend rate from an annual basis at $1.50 to $2.

EARNINGS this year have been substantially greater than last year. If they continue at the present rate for the remainder of 1928, net profit of $6.50 may be shown on the common stock. In 1927 net was $839,269, which was equivalent to $3.66 a share on the 180,000 shares of common stock after deducting dividends on the $3,000,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock.

HOW good Pittsburgh business really is may be seen by a comparison of present conditions with a year ago. The steel industry is now producing at nearly 85 per cent of capacity. A year ago it was working at 70 per cent. Prices of bars, plates and shapes are $2 a ton higher than a year ago.

More important than this business was on an unmistakably downward trend in the latter part of August, 1927, while today it is on an upgrade.

A YEAR ago the oil industry was feeling the effects of over production. The oil business is still far from satisfactory, but there are real signs of improvement.

Coal prices are still low, but 12 months ago the end of the strike was not in sight. The past few weeks have seen peace made in several fields.

A year ago the Ford plants were idle and many Pittsburgh organizations were anxiously waiting for the resumption of production. Ford cars are again rolling from the assembly line and the automobile trade in general is good. Dodge is also in far better condition than last summer. Active automobile production means good times for many Pittsburgh manufacturers.

IT IS true that there are a few industries which are not sharing fully in the general prosperity, but taken as a whole, this district is having a good third quarter. The outlook for the balance of the year is bright.

THE favorable comparison between the two years has been achieved in the face of the alleged unsettling influence of a presidential election. Perhaps elections have gone the way of other events which have been discarded as factors in modern business. Perhaps business recognizes the fact that the campaign is more of a conflict of personalities than of platforms.

THE bond houses expect a moderate resumption in the offering of new issues this fall. The high money rates occasioned by the advances in Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rates recently brought about a corresponding decline in the prices of bonds. Some houses were caught with heavy inventories but it is understood that excess securities have been liquidated in most cases. There have been few new offerings during the past two months.

DOG CATCHER SO DOGGONE GOOD VILLAGE FIRES HIM

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 30.—(AP.)—As a dog catcher, Clarence Skinner was very, very good. So they fired him.

"If you weren't stopped," said Police Chief Freeman to Skinner, "you'd make Evanston dogless. And that would be too doggone bad."

The chief told Skinner that the dog catcher's records showed 1,336 dogs had been captured since March 1.

"That's a lot of dogs," the police head said in informing Skinner that his dog catching duties were about to terminate.

"You caught all kinds, muzzled and unmuzzled, licensed and unlicensed, thoroughbred and just plain dog. The Humane Society complains you also shot several that you couldn't catch.

"It appears that you are altogether too good at catching dogs to be a good dog-catcher."

Gene Deservi was appointed to succeed Skinner. Upon his appointment Deservi issued a statement.

New Rail Outlet For Pittsburgh a Reality

Another outlet for Pittsburgh's products will come with completion of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad link which will put Pittsburgh on a direct route to tidewater at Baltimore. This development will cost approximately $10,000,000 and will take two years to complete. On the new line there will be three major bridges, a number of small bridges and six tunnels. The new line will be a link in a transportation chain reaching from Baltimore to Duluth.

Our local manufacturing plants and the industrial sections of the Monongahela valley will be especially favored by this new line. Such steel towns as Monessen, Donora and Allenport will be afforded better shipping facilities.

Such a line has been dreamed about and planned for years. That work at last has begun on the new project, which spells more prosperity for our district, is reason for elation.

facilities. Marked development of our water- on of Pittsburgh's importance in laying out ites. All these mean the continual rise of Pittsburgh's prestige as a vital part of the national industrial and commercial life.

Can You Do This?

Perhaps You Can Do Something MORE Important.

DULUP SINGH FINISHES THE LONG JUMP.

Dulup Singh from India, champion long distance jumper, is finishing the long jump at the Olympic games.

This is a fine picture of motion and energy. The arms are stretched back like the "stream line" in a boat, to minimize air friction. The head is down, legs and knees up, for the same purpose. It requires tremendous physical energy to hurl this man through the air.

A majority of us could not possibly do this. We couldn't get so high in the air, we wouldn't know how to go about it.

But, fortunately, many of us can do things MORE important.

For instance, to make your thinking jump ahead of present days and to THINK IN THE FUTURE, is more important than physical jumping ahead on a "long jump."

An individual has just SO MUCH energy, mental and physical. If he overdoes his physical energy it takes away from the mental. If he overdoes the mental energy, he takes away from the physical.

You can get any number of machines and any number of animals to do the physical things better than any human being can do them.

But you can't get any animal or any machine FOR THINKING. Man must do that himself.

The greyhound can run faster and jump farther. The gorilla can fight better, could take our four best heavyweights in a 24-foot ring, and in five minutes they would all be dead.

The kangaroo jumps just naturally. A cheap little runabout will outrun all the marathon runners that ever were born. Man alone can THINK on THIS PLANET.

THINKING ALONE CREATES PROGRESS.

Speed, stamina, staying power are admirable in young athletes if they don't overdo it.

But the finest thing of all is to develop stamina, speed and staying power IN THE BRAIN, where thinking is done.

The whole world will hear about Dulup Singh on account of his long jumping. But the world won't be any the BETTER for it, and his own country, India, wouldn't be any the better for it, if he could jump across the Atlantic Ocean.

But one real thinking man might make the 300,000,000 inhabitants of India independent of Britain, now ruling them, and what is most important, might give them a better government than the British government.

Just now the British government is a great deal better than their own, and much better than any that they would be apt to establish, with their unfortunate ideas of widow burning, child marriage, etc.

Wall Street's Sad Heart—

But Cheer Up.

From the heart of Wall Street comes news that wicked forgers have taken "loot amounting to $1,000,000 in one year."

That is terrible, but the Federal Reserve Board statement that 8,929 members of the Federal Reserve had done a loan and investment business of thirty-five billions, four hundred and ninety-eight millions shows there is something left over.

Those little "$1,000,000 loot" bank forgers might learn from Federal Reserve Bank officials how to make REAL MONEY from the public.

Raising discount rates, encouraging banks to increase interest rates, under pretext of "discouraging excessive speculation," the Federal Reserve is taking hundreds of millions from business, and injuring business by the plainest kind of usury.

President Coolidge ought to be interested in that performance. There is little doubt that Mr. Hoover or Gov. Smith, whichever is to succeed Coolidge, will be interested when the time comes.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

What the Sun's Heat Is

"Please explain how the heat of the sun can pass through infinite spaces of minus zero temperature and still retain any heat which could possibly have any influence upon us, the inhabitants of this terrestrial sphere? There are thousands of people who do not understand this phenomenon and who surely would be glad to be informed upon the subject.—I. H., New York."

THE sun sends heat to the earth in the same sense in which the farmer sends bread to the city. What the farmer really sends is wheat which can be made into bread for the millions. But since bread is the important thing from the consumer's viewpoint, he, by a figure of speech (which is the life of language) credits the farmer with sending the bread, which is the final product of the wheat.

So the sun sends through space waves of energy which are transformed into heat after they reach the earth, and since the heat is the important thing from our viewpoint, we figuratively credit the sun with sending us heat, which is the final product of the energy.

One of the reasons why so many misunderstood the conclusions of science is because in ordinary speech figurative expressions are used to convey scientific facts, and the hearer, or reader, takes such expressions in a mental sense. This is not to say, however, that only technical words and terms should be employed in the popular presentation of scientific subjects, nor that figurative expressions should be discharged; but simply that the facts should be stated in clear, common words, and pains be taken to point out where, for convenience, or picturesqueness, metonymy is employed, (metonymy is a rhetorical figure in which one thing is put for another, as heat for radiant energy).

Space is cold for the very reason that the energy radiated from the sun passes through it without being transformed into heat. According to the theory of the interplanetary ether there is some medium, not subject to the ordinary laws of gases, which fills all space, and which, by waves or undulations, conveys the sun's energy away into space on all sides, somewhat as the energy imparted to a body of water by a stone falling into it, gives rise to waves which spread through the water to the surrounding shores.

When waves strike a beach of sand they may move the particles of sand and heap them up in ridges. When the ether waves encounter any material object they set up vibrations in it, and it is these vibrations of the molecules of a substance that constitute heat. There appears to be yet a little mystery left here, for you may ask: "How can waves in a medium not subject to physical laws set up vibrations in a material substance?" The answer is this is being dug out by the molern studies of the constitution of the atom, and the origin and nature of matter and radiant energy. Science always has plenty of mysteries left in its bag, but they are being gradually hauled out into the light of intelligent comprehension. The important thing for the layman is to be careful to understand just what the scientist means when describing his results; while on the other hand the scientist sins against the best interests of knowledge if he either refuses to make public his discoveries or sets them forth in misleading or incomprehensible language. It is a huge delusion that science is so deep that only technicians can understand it.

Parents, Don't "Meddle"

THE aged one in the home of a son or a daughter should realize that he or she is not entitled to dictate the affairs of the household in any way whatsoever.

Too many aged parents, thinking of their own years of experience, try to help by taking the lead.

This is usually the cause of dissention.

The children may be only too glad to have parents with them in their married home, but the parents won't follow a "hands off" policy.

The sheltered one has no just right for interfering with the management of the home of son or daughter.

Nor should a parent interfere when heated arguments occur between a man and his wife.

One aged mother follows the system of going to her room every time there are any signs of disagreement; she keeps out of it thus. It works out satisfactorily.

If parents in the homes of their children would remember to keep out of the way in times of stress they would be more keenly appreciated.

Never Too Wise

OH, I would grow as the great world grows,
Would joy in each conquest made
Over man's ancient fears and foes
By the souls that are unafraid!

I would taste of each blessing by progress brought
On man's road to the stars from the dust,
Would drink fresh wisdom the years have taught,
But be never too wise to trust!

I am eager to quaff the secret springs
That give knowledge of life and death,
But I would not yield for their draughts the wings
Of an immemorial faith.

I turn, I yearn toward each ray of light
In this dusk where men vainly grope,
But, though thrilled at each glimmer that leads aright,
I would not be too wise for hope!

A Goal Worth While

TAKE a map of our hemisphere, draw upon it a black line roughly paralleling the coast, then imagine this line a broad, hard-surfaced highway, busy with motor cars and trucks, also useful as landing places for air-mail planes.

That is one of the projects to be considered by the Pan-American Congress on Highways at its meeting in Rio de Janeiro next year.

Some parts of this all-American highway have been built. The missing links, if supplied, would tap many rich regions.

Great Passages from the Bible

Judge Not One Another

(Romans 14; 1-13)

HIM that is weak in the faith receive ye, but not to doubtful disputations.

For one believeth that he may eat all things: another, who is week, eateth herbs.

Let not him that eateth despise him that eateth not; and let not him which eateth not judge him that eateth: for God hath received him.

Who are thou that judgest another man's servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand.

One man esteemeth one day above another: another esteemeth every day alike. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind.

He that regardeth the day, regardeth it unto the Lord; and he that regardeth not the day, to the Lord he doth not regard it. He that eateth, eateth to the Lord, for he giveth God thanks; and he that eateth not, to the Lord he eateth not, and giveth God thanks.

For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself.

For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.

For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living.

But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ.

For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God.

So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God.

Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling-block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

SOME guys get so interested in their work that they forget their wife altogether. Now, there was an artist that was terrible arty, and he went around kinda dreaming all the time, and one day he got an order for a picture of the laying of a cornerstone or something that had happened six years earlier in his town.

"Say," he says to his wife, "I've got to do some women in this picture, and I don't remember how they dressed six years ago. Has there been any change in styles?"

"Well," she says, "I think you'd be safe in using me as a model, in my best clothes."

The Rarer Sort

GEN. MASON M. PATRICK said at the Army and Navy Club in Washington:

"Young Col. Lindbergh is remarkable for the nonmercenary character of his ambition. He's ambitious to do better and better work, but he cares nothing about money.

"Now most of us are like Jones. A man said to Jones one day:

"'Jones, what would you do if you had a million dollars?

"'Do?' said Jones. 'Why, I'd do same as anybody else would do, of course. I'd overwork myself into dyspeptic neurasthenia trying to make it two million.'"

Remembered

THEY apparently had not met for some time. They were sitting in the gloaming listening to the languorous roll of the sea below.

"And you say you were in the town where I live last week?" she murmured, softly.

"Yes!"

"And you thought of me, John?" she cooed.

"Aye, I did," replied John. I said to myself, "Why, isn't this where what's-her-name lives?"

O. O. McINTYRE In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—This is not only one of the most amazing cities in America, but the "freakiest." It attracts the long-haired, the unwashed and the unshod as treacle attracts flies. A benign silver-haired salvationist in sandals accosted me in Pershing Square this morning.

"Brother," he ventured, "what have you done to make the world happier this glorious day?" I coughed apologetically behind my hand to hide the mounting blush. Frankly, I could think of nothing. He handed me a tract and moved on, wagging his head. Another unctious gentleman who constantly soaped his hands called to announce he was out to join the cabinet as "secretary of peace."

These curious complexities are what make Los Angeles fascinating to me. Its radio blather from health cults, soul experimentalists and Pollyanna psychologists has marked it as the cradle of Babbitry—a haven for nuts. And yet in many ways it is more cosmopolitan and worldly than New York.

Without apparent effort, it forges ahead with the certainty of a sure-footed mountain goat. Remain away a year and you return to find almost another city. It sprawls over an area larger than that of London—an area constantly tearing down and building up.

No stranger can visit Los Angeles without warming to its hospitality. It has learned the value of the friendly overture more than any other city perhaps on the face of the globe. And those who have the idea Los Angeles, like Topsy, "just growed," are sadly mistaken.

No other city has faced more obstacles or overcome them. In the beginning the sole asset was its ecstasy of sunshine—valuable no doubt, but thousands of spots in America with wonderful climate remain dreary and desolate waste places.

The faith of Los Angeles in its destiny is boundless. And this enthusiasm is contagious. I know dozens of cynical Broadwayites, whose heaven stretched between Columbus Circle and Herald Square, transplanted here by the movies. A year and they are wild-eyed and rampant "boosters."

Palmists, table tippers, phrenologists, clairvoyants and sundry physical and spiritual rejuvenators swarm here. It is a paradise for quack religionists and quack medical practitioners. On the beautiful boulevards will be seen rose-hanging arbors leading up to picturesque cottages of crystal gazers, card reading and coffee-ground fortune tellers and other seers. On their well-kept lawns are signs with "Don't Worry" slogans traced in Neon lights. And I am told they do a land office business.

Recording all this mystic abracadabra is not a gesture to laugh at Los Angeles. Far from it. To me it is a shibboleth of tolerance—the sort of tolerance that has given Paris, Constantinople and Vienna their color and made them among the most interesting cities in the world. It is merely a "side show" and has nothing to do with fundamental civic and commercial virtues responsible for the city's astounding growth. Even the Los Angelan smiles at the array of fakery—just as the New Yorker smiles at its flea circus, wax museums, cheap Coney Island thrills and sucker night clubs.

The ice cream wagon reaches the apotheosis of grandeur here. Last evening on Wilshire boulevard—the Fifth avenue of the West—was a cream-colored wagon drawn by two milk-colored cobbed horses and on either side of the wagon the name of the product was traced in delicate orange lights. The driver wore a white velvet suit and cap and was as black as the ace of spades—thus creating the effect of a stick of licorice in a bowl of ice cream.

* * *

Harry Ricketts, my chauffeur, who has never been west of Albany, hid under a train seat from Indians all the way after passing, Gary, Ind., and now after three days in California intimates he might not return East.

"You can have your New York," he said airily.

Los Angeles gives its visitors innumerable souvenirs. It almost requires a basket for an ordinary walk. This morning a lady approached with a bundle while I backed away coyly and gently slapping at her. It developed she merely wanted her baby held while she tied her shoe.

Cheerful Funerals

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

Ellen Terry was not content with scattering sunshine all her life; she arranged to do the same thing at her funeral.

There was no black, no gloom, no outward parade of sorrow.

Over her pall there was thrown the golden dress she had worn in her stage triumphs.

Her house was not hung with emblems of mourning, but was full of sunshine. The windows were all open and every room was bright with flowers.

Behind her coffin walked her daughter, wearing a simple white dress, and her son in a gray suit. Both were smiling.

Behind them came the rest of her family, all gayly attired.

The sunshine streamed through the windows. The air was sweet with the scent of roses on the altar and fragrant herbs in the aisles.

Well, why not?

If we are Christians, and believe there is no death, or that death is a mere transition, why not act like it?

It is natural for the bereft to feel sorrow when one they have loved is taken from them forever. But believers have a sure hope of a coming resurrection. They look forward to a glorious reunion after death.

It takes considerable courage to live up to this belief. Few people are independent enough of public opinion to do it. It is a matter of rejoicing that this great woman had the courage of her convictions.

Death is as natural as birth. When our time comes we must all pass on.

Why, then, should death be regarded as a sort of blow or unexpected tragedy? A sensible man should make preparations for death, as he makes plans for life.

He should, by means of insurance and thrift, arrange so that his dependents will not be thrown into economic suffering at his departure.

There are some persons who superstitiously refuse to think or plan for death at all, although they know it is a certainty.

There is no use flying to the other extreme and morbidly cherishing the thought of death all the time. It should not be allowed to cloud our lives.

But death ought to have a fixed place in every sane man's life and its unpleasant consequences be mitigated as much as possible.

If we believe in a life beyond, let us act in accordance with that belief, and not indulge in heathen extravagances nor parades of sorrow.

A Great Life

WHEN that great American prophet, Walter Rauschenbusch died a few years back, there was mourning deep and silent in many a humble heart, a mourning which the passing years mollify but do not obliterate.

The man was the blending of a great mind and a great heart and one of his books, "Christianizing the Social Order," has never been excelled as a classic of social prophecy.

Not soon shall I forget seeing him take up the magnificent audience in Ford Hall, Boston, and hold it in the hollow of his hand through an address bristling with firebrands.

Just hear the man talk for a moment:

"To live a great life a man needs a great cause to which he can surrender, something divinely large and engrossing for which he can live and, if need be, die.

"A vital faith will gradually saturate a man's whole life and master not only his conscious energies, but his subconscious drifts."

Like the rising sun that truth is a repeater in the vocabulary of the universal soul. Wendell Phillips stressed it in an immortal address to young people.

The Great Galilean reiterated that he who would save his life must lose it. And then he moved right into the center of his own utterance and lived it to the spikes of Calvary.

Just take a pole-to-pole leap now from this spiritual dynamic to its extreme antithesis and you hear the pessimist in ordinary, Schopenhauer, declaring that life's dearest boon is an escape from boredom.

Well, glance at the list of men who have lived great lives by surrendering to great causes and you will find the ones suffering from Schopenhauer boredom as scarce as plutocrats and demagogues in Eden.

Lincoln, Wilberforce, Mazzini, Hugo, Winkelried, Bright and so on through the catalogue of wide-awakes. Their every day was a thrill. Their conscious and subconscious energies very ablaze with ardor.

Great lives and great causes are inseparable.
